PREFACE

To be able to identify your ancestors is both an honor and a privilege and to be able to study the many details of their lives is like being with them through their lives.

As each generation passes, a mark is left upon civilization and from the stories of their deeds, their hopes and fears we learn, not only about our ancestors, but the history of our land. Bringing forth these stories, repeating them and recording them, and passing them down to future generations, our part of American history will long be remembered and honored.

Much had been written on various branches of the Taliaferro (pronounced Toliver) family since Robert Taliaferro, the American emigrant landed on our shores, over three hundred years ago, but no effort to combine the material had been made.

This book is an attempt , not only to combine the works that were available, but to add a great deal of heretofore unpublished material and put it into chronological order. Accuracy and truth have been the goal, but no doubt, some errors have occured, which should be reported and corrected.

Hundred and hundreds of correspondents have added much to this work and I want to thank everyone who has contributed, even in a small way. Sometimes that small bit was the hardest link to find.

Several Libraries and Historical Societies have taken the time and expense to send material that has been of great use in preparing this book. They include: Virginia State Library, Ohio State Library, Texas State Library, Rusk County Texas Library, San Diego City Library, Daughters of the American Revolution, Sons of the American Revolution, Missouri Historical Society, Virginia Historical Society, College of William and Mary, Virginia Magazine of History and Biography The National Archives, Washington, D.C., Daughters of the Confederacy, plus many who have been kind enough to loan their personal papers and histories.

About 1900 James T. Taliaferro compiled and published the "Taliferro Family History, 1638-1899." Only a few copies are known to exist and I have been priviledged to have one. One of his remarks which I am unable to improve upon follows. "This record of our family has been gathered together in our pride of ancestry and dedicated to our hopes of posterity. Some bequeath to their children lands and chattels; some only a basket-ful of memories. Unable to be one, we are unwilling to be the other. Therefore we hand down something more than memory --- a name famed in the South and interwoven with all the traditions of the Old Dominion."

My hope is that future generations will continue to add to these records and to pass them down to those who will follow. The Taliaferro family ranks high among the patriots of our country, and we can be proud of our ancestry. May my efforts help you to enjoy knowing more of our ancestors.

Special thanks is given to the following people who have given permission to use manuscripts of the Taliaferro Family:

William Buckner McGroarty for "The Family Register of Nicholas Taliaferro." This was printed in William and Mary College Quarterly Historical Magazine, Vol. 1, 2nd series, of July 1921.
Also, notes and charts of Mr. McGroarty with heretofore unpublished material.

Drummond Manuscript
Original paper furnished by Mrs. Bessie Brodie, of Amherst, Virginia. Preparred by Charles Drummond.

CHAPTER 1.

THE TALIAFERRO NAME

Over the years many stories have been told regarding the origin of the Taliaferro name. Most of these stories are based on one, or the other, of two legends, and some are based on a combination of the two. So that the reader may better understand the origin of the name both of these legends follow.

THE FIRST LEGEND:

The first and oldest legend dates back to the days of Julius Caesar, in the year 58 B.C. During one of his campaigns, in that part of Gaul, now the northern part of Italy, Caesar, while on an inspection trip of his camp, became separated from the rest of his party, and found himself surrounded by a tribe of Gallic Barbarians. Altho Caesar did not stand a chance in the fight which followed he did defend himself in such a manner as would be expected of such a great Roman warrior. One of the barbarians, who so admired the fighing ability and courage of Caesar, stopped the fight, and Caesar was spared.

Caesar, in return for the saving of his life, took the barbarian into the Roman Camp and made him his personal Arms Bearer. This was a great honor for the barbarian, as the Romans did not permit outsiders to carry arms. It was part of the duty of the Arms Bearer to maintain and repair the arms.

Thus, from the fact that the barbarian became an Arms Bearer, he was given the name of "TALIEFER" of "TALIAFER", taken from the Latin words "TUTUM" meaning a dart or spear; and "FERRE" meaning to bear; "to bear arms."

This story would have it that some of the descendants of this Taliafer, the barbarian, later found their way north to France and England.

Years later there were in Italy families with the name of TAGLIAFERRO, and it is possible that they were the descendants of this barbarian. There is some belief that one Lawrence Tagliaferro left Italy about 1500-1515 and went to Scotland and it is also believed that from him the American Taliaferros descended.

THE SECOND LEGEND:

This second legend seems the most plausible of the two, as it is based, in part, on several facts that can be found in the early history and literature of England.

This legend tells us that in the Cavalry of William the Conqueror, during the time of the invasion of England in 1066, was a Norman Knight that had a great fighting ability. He would ride into battle singing songs of Roland and Charlemagne, all the while he would be tossing his large sword high in the air and then catch it as it came back down, while riding at full speed.

It is said that this Norman Knight had such great strength that he could, with one blow cut through the iron armour of his adversary and that his sword would then cut through the man. He became the hero of Hastings and for his service to William the Conqueror he was given large land grants in County Kent (England) which descended to his posterity.

As a result of his fighting ability with the sword, this Norman Knight became known as "TAILFER"- "TAILFER"- "TALIAFERRO." (Found spelled several ways). Taken from the two Latin words; "TALIA" meaning to cut, and "FERO" (or FERRUM), meaning iron. Thus the name Taliaferro, as it later came to be spelled in England, means "Cutter of Iron" or "Iron Cutter."

We do not know at what point in history the name came to be spelled as "Taliaferro". We do know that the family, the descendants of the Norman Knight called "Talifer", became deep seated in England, and that as time went by the name was angolized, and that the pronunciation was changed from "Talia-Ferro" to that of "Toliver", with the spelling of "Taliaferro" being retained. Thus even before the name reached America it was spelled as Taliaferro but pronounced Toliver.

THE CONNECTIONS WITH THE ROYAL FAMILIES:

From the first Taliaferro (the Norman Knight) in England as early as 1066 there followed many descendants. One of these was Ayer de Taliaferro, Lord of Angouleme, who married Lady Alice de Courtney, and their daughter, Isabel de Taliaferro, became the wife of King John of England, about 1200.

By other marriages the Taliaferro family became united with the Royal families of Scotland, Italy, Peter the 2nd of Constantinople, and others.

NATIONALITY OF THE NAME

There are as many claims as to what nationality we are as there are spellings and pronunciations of the name. Each of these claims, without regard to any other, have, a certain amount of truth, or at least reason to justify the belief.

For one to say that the name was Italian, basing this claim on the story, or legend, of the barbarian in 58 B.C., one would have to disregard many years of history. After some 1700 years, before the Emigrant, Robert Taliaferro arrived in America, the Italian blood would have long since run out. Regardless of this, the fact remains that his descendants became deep seated in Eng. arriving there in 1066, and the name coming to America about 1638.

Therefore, as the name was in England some 572 years before coming to America, it would seem that to say the name was anything, other than English, would be in error, even though the name might have been of Italian origin. The Emigrant, Robert was ENGLISH, as we are AMERICANS.

THOMAS JEFFERSON AND GEORGE WYTHE,
AND THEIR INTEREST IN THE TALIAFERRO FAMILY

Mr. George Wythe, who was instructor at the College of William and Mary, and a signer of the Declaration of Independence, married as his second wife, Elizabeth Taliaferro 4, daughter of Richard Taliaferro 3, and his wife Elizabeth Eggleston, who was son of Francis Taliaferro 2, and wife Elizabeth Catlett, the son of Robert Taliaferro 1, the founder.

Richard Taliaferro 3, the father-in-law of George Wythe was one of the first competent architects of the Country; it was he who built, and willed to George Wythe, the home that later became known as the Wythe House located at Williamsburg, Virginia, which served as the headquarters of General George Washing prior to the siege of Yorktown.

When Thomas Jefferson was in London and Paris during the years 1786-87, several letters were exchanged between him and George Wythe in regard to the Taliaferro Family history. Mr. Jefferson was a close friend of the Wythe and Taliaferro families, and was asked to secure the family Crest while he was in Europe. These letters, in part, follow:

GEORGE WYTHE TO THOMAS JEFFERSON:

"I wish to get the Arms of Taliaferro, which, from information I believe to have been a Tuscan family, engraven on a copper-plate with the motto (Latin symbols followed) and the name Richard Taliaferro. But I would not have this done, if it can not be without giving you trouble, nor unless you will order to whom I shall repay the cost. Perhaps the motto, taken from Aeschylus (Latin symbols followed) would be sufficient without "Apiocos." If you think so, leave out that word. Adieu."

.....Jan. 10, 1786. Williamsburg.

"In a letter, written lately to you, after acknowledging the receipt of a pacquet, I begged you, if it would not be inconvenient, to procure for me the Arms of Taliaferro, engraven on a small copper plate, with the name Richard Taliaferro. In this I desire your assistance, because I believe the family to have been Tuscan, Mr. Bellini (the first college professor of modern language in the U.S. at William and Mary College) having informed me that a district not further distant from Florence, Italy than 12 or 13 miles bears that name. .....10-Feb. 1786 Williamsburg.".

THOMAS JEFFERSON TO GEORGE WYTHE:

"....Immediately on the receipt of your letter I wrote to a correspondent at Florence to enquire after the family of Taliaferro as you desired. I received his answer two days ago, a copy of which I now enclose. The original shall be sent by some other occasion. I will have the copper plate immediately engraved. This may be ready within a few days but the probability is that I shall be long in getting an opportunity of sending it to you, as these rarely occur. You did not mention the size of the plate, but presuming it is for the labels for the inside of books, I shall have it made of the proper size for that..." 13 Aug. 1786, Paris.

GEORGE WYTHE TO THOMAS JEFFERSON

"....I am endeavouring to satisfy the inquiry of the Taliaferris near Florence, after their emigrant kinsman, according to Mr. Fabbroni's desire. At present I incline to think that this person was he who Buchana rerum scoticarum lib.xlll. c.41, mentions, calling him Laurentium Taliaferro, virum probum et doctum, et, pueris regis; and that one of his posterity, rather than himself, was the founder of the Virginia family, for the year 1500, or between 1500-1515, was the time when this Laurence was in Scotland..... ....13 Dec. 1786, Williamsburg."

THOMAS JEFFERSON TO GEROGE WYTHE:

"....I sent you formerly the documents on the Tagliaferro family which I have received from Mr. Febroni. I now send the originals.... ...16 Sept. 1787 Paris."

It is probably from these letters that passed between George Wythe and Thomas Jefferson that has come the belief that the Emigrant, Robert Taliaferro, was from Scotland, and that his ancestors were only a few generations removed from Italy.

It should be noted that as early as 1786 little was known regarding the ancestors of Robert Taliaferro and that at this time search was going on to find information on the Taliaferro family. From the fact that it was only the fourth generation in America at that time and that they were looking for this information regarding the ancestors it would seem to indicate that the Emigrant, Robert Taliaferro left no information that would reveal where he was from or who his parents were.

FAMILY CREST, OR COAT-OF-ARMS, of TALIAFERRO:

There are two Crests of the Family--the English and Italian. It is the Italian Crest that is considered by many of the family to be the most authentic and it was the Italian Crest that was accepted by the early Taliaferros in Virginia, possibly due to this being the one Thomas Jefferson secured from Italy for his friend, George Wythe.

Both Crests are given in the front pages of this book.

MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION ON THE NAME:

Wace, the chronicaler, describes the Norman Knight thus: "Taliaferro, who sang very well, on a horse that ran swiftly, went before the Duke singing of Charlemagne and of Roland, of Oliver and of the Vassals who died at Ronesvalles."

In the Virginia Magazine of History and Biography, Vol. 11, page 321, the following is found regarding the name: "Taliaferro; the pronunciation of the name is a Virginia Shibboleth. There is a Taliaferro Post Office in Georgia--a Tolifer Post Office in Colorado-and two Toliver Post Offices. There was no Taliaferro or Toliver name mentioned in the London Post Office directory of 1901, and only one Taillefer, a French lawyer.

Freeman says: "He pierced one Englishman with his lance, he struck down another with his sword, and then fell himself beneath the blows of their comrades". His name is further mentioned in the sentence: "Incisor-ferri mimus cognomine dictus." He took his name because he used his sword so effectively on the iron of his adversaries. Taliaferro is the Italian form of the name."

SPELLING AND PRONUNCIATION OF THE NAME AS USED TODAY:

Today the name is found spelled as TALIAFERRO, TALLIAFERRO, TAGLIAFERRO, TOLIVER, TOLLIVER & TALFER.

Papers belonging to the the Emigrant, showed the name spelled Taliaferro and Toliver in the same instrument, proving that from the very first, in America, both spellings were found, and belonged to one family.

When the Republic of Texas was first formed, it is said, that President Sam Houston issued a proclamation that all names had to be pronounced with the English pronounciation. This was due to their being in Texas at the time so many people of Spanish, French and other ancestry. At this time, and long before 1836 there were several Taliaferro families in South Texas, and either not knowing the correct origin of the name, or thinking that it was other than English, changed the spelling to that of "Toliver."

Many of the early Taliaferro and Toliver families were large slave owners and when they freed their slaves many took the name of their former owner, so today we find several Negro families with this name.

However, it is my belief, aside from the Negro families, all Talliafero and Tolivers are the descendants of the Emigrant, Robert Taliaferro, Gentlemen.

CHAPTER 1

ROBERT TALIAFERRO, EMIGRANT AND GENTLEMAN

The first of the name in America

ROBERT TALIAFERRO-1- is known to have been in Virginia as early as 1638, although the exact year of his arrival is not known.

It is not known what circumstances brought Robert Taliaferro to America, nor is it known on what ship he arrived. His sons were of the Protestant faith and it is very possible that he was and that he came to America in search of religious freedom.

Some say that Robert Taliaferro arrived in America with one brother, and one sister, but if this be true, he was the only one to leave descendants to carry the name.

In the book, "Some Prominent Virginia Families,"Vol. 2. pages 730-758, by DyBellet, it is stated "Two brothers, James and John Taliaferro, after the revocation of the Edict of Nates came from France to America"--- This article goes on with information to enable us to place these two brothers, James and John Taliaferro, as being the descendants of Robert Taliaferro, the emigrant, and this being correct they could not have been emigrants from France, or any other Country, as they were born in America.

Robert Taliaferro (1), became a person of great consequence, for he had large grants of land in Gloucester County and on the Rappahannock River, including one of 6,500 acres which he patented jointly with Major Lawrence Smith. One grant for land in Gloucester is dated 1655 and in the document the name is written, both Taliaferro and Toliver.

Robert Taliaferro (1) married Katherine Dedman , referred to in many writings on the family as "Sara Grymes, daughter of Rev. Charles Grymes." In the Virginia Magazine of History and Biography, Vol. 56, pages 208-210, in an article written by John Bailey Calvert Nicklin, it is stated that Robert Taliaferro's wife was Katherine Dedman (or Deadman) rather than Sara Grymes, as Katherine Dedman was the daughter of Henry Dedman and his wife Katherine Dedman; that after the death of Henry Dedman his widow Katherine Dedman married Rev. Charles Grymes, and thus Katherine Dedman, daughter of Henry and Katherine Dedman, became the step-daughter of Rev. Charles Grymes.

It is possible, (true I do not have proof) that Kathering Dedman was very young when her mother married Rev. Charles Grymes, and then grew up knowing him as her father, perhaps taking the name of Grymes as her own. The Sarah, for her name rather than the correct name of Katherine, might have come about by there being two Katherines in the same household and hat they called her Sara to avoid confusion.

FRANCIS TALIAFERRO (2)

Born in Essex Co. Va. 1654 and died in 1710. He was known as Francis Taliaferro, of the Mount. He was a Justice in Essex County, from 1696, until 1700. At one time, about 1682 he was living in Gloucester Co. Va.

References from "Historical Sketches of Campbell, Pilcher & Kindred Families" several deeds are given pretaining to him and his wife Elizabeth Catlett. P. 268---"In 1701 Francis and Elizabeth Taliaferro sold 416 acres in Essex County, Va., One half of the tract of Col. John Catlett, 9-10-1660 and by his will given to his daughters Elizabeth and Sara. The said land was surveyed and perfected for Francis Taliaferro as marrying Elizabeth, daughter of Col. John Catlett, 5-4-1691, per Will Moseley surveyor."

Page 385: Francis Taliaferro (2), who did survey and patent 6,000 acres and 4,300 acres in Rappahannoc Co. Va. and Conveying to his brother John 1000 acres, who intended by the permission of Almighty God to marry Sara Smith, daughter of Lawrence Smith, 9-28-1682.

Deed from Francis Taliaferro (2)--conveying to his brothers Richard and Charles Taliaferro 1,600 acres of land.

Deed from Francis Taliaferro (2) and wife Elizabeth for the other one half of land 9-9-1687.

Deed from Francis Taliaferro (2) and Elizabeth to Aug. Smith of Gloucester, for 416 acres, a patent of Col. John Catlett 9-11-1660 for 792 acres, 3-1-1701.

Wife

ELIZABETH CATLETT

Daughter of Col. John Catlett. Born 1 ? Died 1716.

Per Will Moseley, surveyor--"Francis Taliaferro died in 1710." In the same year, Elizabeth, his wife was made admx of his will. She presented an inventory of the estate. On 3-20-1716, John Taliaferro of the "Mount" and Thomas Catlett go on Elizabeth Taliaferro's bond as admx.

Col. John Catlett's will 11-1714 mentions the following heirs: Elizabeth and Sara Taliaferro, Margaret and Rebecca Catlett, sons John and Thomas Catlett. Extract of his will shows that Eliz., Wm and Sara were the children of Col. John Catlett.

Col. John Catlett, of Essex, gave John Munford, attorney of London power to sell all of his lands in St. Cittigheurn and Radwisham, both of Kent, England, 6-10-1701. Col. John Catlett was killed by the Indians while defending a fort at Fort Royal, Virginia.

Ann Champe

The joint holdings of this couple, when combined, formed an estate of 626 acres, to which they gave the name of "Dissington", which it bears to this day.

From the Virginia Magazine, Vol. 44, p. 80-81: Champ information, which follows.

"Among the families of prominence seated in the Northern Neck of Va. prior to the War of the Rev. that of Champe has, strangely enough, been the only one to lack a biographer; while the land and court records of Westmoreland, Northumberland, Richmond, King Geo. and Stafford Co. covering the last decade of the 17th century bear ample testimony to the financial and social standing, very little has been published of an informative character relating to the family, as a family.

---Intermarriages of the family were widespread from the beginning, embracing the Washington, Carters, Thorntons, Taliaferro, Battailes, Williese and others of equal merit and standing, none of whom has lacked an individual Boswell.

---The name is believed to be, originally, Norman-French, Champe, Anglicized into Champ, or Champe, as we know it today; as to the derivation, we get the surname Champion and Norman variant Campion. Also the following more extensive analysis: "From the Anglo-Saxon camp, comp, modern German kampf-War: Ang. Sax. caempa, compa, Combatant, whence the North of England Kemp, Champion, are the following simple forms. Old German Camp, Campho; Eighth century English Camp, Champ, Kemp; Modern German Campe, Kemp; French Champy, Champeau. Diminutives "English Camplin, Campling, Kemplin, French Champlin; English Campkin."---

The earliest mention of the name that the writer has found is in the Land books of the Northern Neck; on 10-21-1694, John Champ patented 340 acres of land "On the branch of Quantcott Creek, in Stafford Co." A patent of 202 acres "adjoining the land of John Champ" was issued to Wm Champ on 4-4-1695, and also to Wm 435 acres on Neabsco Creek, Stafford in 1710, 268 acres in 1724, and 418 acres in 1725, the location of the last two tracts being given as Stafford Co. On 6-6-1717, a patent for 1,300 acres was granted to "Jane" wife of Wm Champ, in the County of Stafford, on Powell's Creek."

p. 274---Will of John Champe of Lamb's Creek. Witnessed 12-10-1759. Wife made executrix with sons Wm Champe, and John Champe. "---I devise that my executors may put my grandson John Taliaferro to some business after he has got his education which must come out of his own estate." "---Also, that my grandson Francis Taliaferro may have his education at the expense of the estate, clothing, etc. until he arrives to the age of 18 years."

p. 276. Will of Mrs. Jane Champe of Lamb's Creek --- leaves to Jenny Taliaferro, gr. dau., my wench Peggy-- to gr. dau. Nancy Taliaferro, negro Sylvia. Written 10-4-1765. Signed and sealed in the presence of Sam Taliaferro, David Briggs. Probated 4-2-1767 in King George Co. Va.

CHAPTER 111

THE FIRST JOHN TALIAFERRO

JOHN TALIAFERRO (2)
Son of Robert & Sara (Grymes) Taliaferro, was the first of the family to bear the name of "John" in Virginia. He and his children played an important part in the social, state and church life of the Colony, but owing to the destruction of the records in Caroline County, where the family resided, it has been impossible to obtain a complete record of the lives of his children. Because of this fact there has existed for some time a false idea as to the parents of Capt. Richard Taliaferro, who married Rose Berryman. Some historians have claimed that he was a son of Zachariah Taliaferro (b. 1683, d. 1745), but the will of the first John Taliaferro, dated 1715, proved 1720 in Essex Co. discloses the fact that Capt. Richard Taliaferro was a son of the first John Taliaferro and his wife Sara (Smith) Taliaferro. The records contained in this chapter are proved by the original court records of Essex, Spotsylvania and Orange Counties. The parentage of Capt. Richard Taliaferro has the personal endorsement of Dr. Lyon G. Tyler, the former President of William and Mary College and the Editor of the College Quarterly.

John Taliaferro (2) was a lieutenant commanding a company of rangers against the Indians in 1692; Justice of Essex, 1695; Sheriff: member of the House of Burgesses, 1699. He married in 1682. His will dated 6-1-1715 was proved in Essex Co. 6-21-1720 names his wife and children, which follow. Wife:

SARA SMITH, daughter of Major Lawrence Smith. The deed of Francis Taliaferro, to his brother John, refers to him as my brother who is about to marry Sara Smith.

They were large land holders in Essex Co. and the bricks for their beautiful home, "Powhattan" was brought over from Eng.

Note: "The Taliaferro Family," by James T. Taliaferro, and printed in the Iroquois County Times Print, at Watseka, Ill. names four children of this couple: John Francis (7), Dr. Benj. F. (7), Rev. Chas. Champe (7) and (Eliza (7).

Wm. B. McGroarty, in his book of the "Champe's of Lambs Creek" names three other daughters, Matilda, Eliz. and Ann Hay (7).

Both Mr. James T. Taliaferro and Mr. McGroarty were descendants in the Taliaferro family, so I will give all that was given by both of them, and adding the material on the descendants of the Helm family. Because of the intermarriages of this line it has been very difficult to figure out the correct lineage, and at some later date, other facts may be added. Why and how the different branches came into Illinois seems to be very closely connected by this line. See Jefferson Taliaferro, James Taliaferro, and the Toliver lines who settled in Clay County, Illinois, which follow. Also see chart of this line.

Page 41. "An incident of Indian warfare in 1812 gave rise to the Peoria French Claims which engaged the attention of the members of Congress, the U.S. General Land Office, occupants of down-town lots in the city of Peoria, and both Illinois and Federal courts for a period that extended over half a century."

---Abraham Lincoln was councel for four or more French claimants.---

--"French traders, and small farmers had lived among friendly Indians on the shore of Peoria Lake (an expansion of the Illinois River) for more than a century. Peoria was a village of 90 to 100 inhabitants. British agents in the War of 1812 engaged Indians to make hostile demonstrations against the American settlers.---

---Gov. Ninian Edwards, of Illinois Territory, organized and accompanied an expeditition of mounted troops which attacked the Potawatomi village of Chief Black Partridge at the head of Peoria Lake in Oct. 1812. 25-30 Indians were killed without loss to the militia. Capt. Thomas E. Craig of Shawneetown was dispatched with his company and supplies in two boats to co-operate with the land forces. He was delayed and arrived at Peoria Lake several days after the troops under Col. Wm Russell and Gov. Edwards had returned to Fort Russell, which had been established near Edwardsville.

Craig found that half of the Peoria French had fled to the southern settlements. His men looted vacant houses, including the warehouse of Thomas Forsyth, U.S. Indian sub-agent, who maintained a trading house at Peoria in partnership with his half-brother, John Kinzie, of Chicago.

Forsyth was absent when Craig came. He was returning by boat from St. Louis where he had gone with Lieutenant Liani T. Helm, whom he had ransomed from an Indian captor, after the Fort Dearborn massacre.----

Lt. Helm was second in command at Fort Dearborn on 8-15-1812 He was wounded in one foot and made captive by Kittatass, probably an Ottawa warrior. Forsyth ransomed Helm at Peoria with two mares and a "keg of stuff when practicable."

111. JOHN TALIAFERRO (3) called COL. JOHN TALIAFERRO (3) of Snow Creek Son of John Taliaferro (2) and Sara Smith, son of Robert (1) and Sara Grymes.

Born 1687 and died May 3, 1744. John (3) of Snow Creek is the Major John, who was requested "To bring up the Surplice" in 1730, to the newly established church at Germana; he was a man of note in the Colony. He married Dec. 22, 1708 to Mary Catlett, d. of Col. John Catlett Jr. and Eliz. Gaines, his wife. The Catlett's owned a large estate at the mouth of Golden Vale Creek in present Caroline Co. Col. John Catlett Jr. (b. 1658), was a son of Col. John Catlett Sr., and his wife, Elizabeth Underwood, who had been previously married to the first Francis Slaughter. According to the Westover Papers, Col. John Taliaferro settled at Snow Creek in 1707. Snow Creek flows into the Rappahannock River a short distance from Fredericksburg, Va.

When John Taliaferro and Francis Thornton settled there, that section belonged to Essex Co., and they were near neighbors and brothers-in-law, the latter having married the former's sister Mary.

The Act creating Spotsylvania Co. (1720) specified Snow Creek at its southern boundary. This three John Taliaferro into the new county and left Francis Thornton in the old.

Col. John Taliaferro (3) became a Justice of Spotsylvania in 1720; a vestryman of St. George's Parish in 1725.

Col. John Taliaferro (3) of "Snow Creek (1687-1744) and his son Lawrence Taliaferro (4) (1721-1748) were buried at Old Hickory Neck Church, in James City Co., near the present village of Toana. Up to some thirty-five years ago, their tombs were well preserved. At the present time no trace of them remains, except that a few fragments of the stone of Lawrence Taliaferro have been discovered and have been embedded in the cement floor of the small entrance porch which has recently been added to the venerable little building. A description of these tombs can be found in Vol. IX, Virginia Historical Collections. Bishop Meade has but little to say about Old Hickory Neck Church; "now much out of repair and used indiscriminately by various sects" it was for many years used as a school room. No one knows when it was built, but it must have been sometime prior to 1744. Wife:

Mary Catlett, d. of Col. John Catlett and wife Eliz. Gaines.

"Newington" is now the property of Mr. E. Clay Pannell, a part of the house remains as originally constructed, about 1753. Before the birth of Lucy Mary Taliaferro, the family had removed from St. Mary's Parish, Caroline, to what had been St. Mark's and was then, as now, St. Thomas' Parish, Orange Co. She was married first, June 11,1773 William Plummer Thurston. On 4-5-1791 she married 2nd: Hay Taliaferro of Cheerful Hall. (Orange Co. marriage records.)

Erasmus Taylor was the brother of Col. Geo. Taylor. He married Jane Moore, the d. of John & Rebecca (Catlett) Moore, who was the widow of the first Francis Conway, and whose d. Nellie Conway, half sister to Jane Moore, m. Col. James Madison. They were the parents of the President. Col F.Taylor in his diary quoted by Dr. Slaughter records, "July 19, 1794. died, Erasmus Taylor, 83 years old."

NICHOLAS TALIAFERRO (5) wrote the "FAMILY HISTORY OF NICHOLAS TALIAFERRO." It was transcribed literally from "Old Buchan", by Thomas A. Marshall of Vicksburg, Miss, for his sister, Mrs. Mary A. P. Doniphan of Augusta, Ky. on the 21st day of June 1849. "Old Buchan" was a family medical recipe book on the blank pages of which Nicholas Taliaferro wrote the history.

This book was carried to Vicksburg, Miss, from Ky. by Judge Marshall and it was lost in the fire which destroyed "Openwoods", the Marshall family home during the seige of that city in the Civil War.

Judge Thomas A. Marshall was the son of Nicholas Taliaferro's daughter, Matilda Battaile, whose husband Martin Marshall was the son of the Rev. Wm. Marshall and his wife, Mary Ann Pickett; he was the first cousin of the Chief Justice.

1X RICHARD TALIAFERRO (3) Capt. (1703-9-27-1748.)
Son of John (2), Robt. (1). Born about 1703. It has long been a question among historians and many genealogists regarding the correct identity of the parents of Capt. Richard Taliaferro. Some have written that he was the son of Zachariah Taliaferro; some say the son of Francis Taliaferro. This information and misunderstading is due to many early records being lost by early fires, etc.

The "Ancestry and Posterity of Dr. John Taliaferro," compiled by Willie Katherine Ivey in 1926, stated that the will of the first John Taliaferro proves that Capt. Richard Taliaferro was the son of the first John Taliaferro. In this same book it is stated that the parents of Capt. Richard Taliaferro were John Taliaferro (2) and his wife, Sara (Smith) Taliaferro, and that this had the endorsement of Dr. Lyon G. Tyler, the former President of William and Mary College and Editor of the William and Mary Quarterly, and later editor of Tyler's Historical and Genealogical Magazine.

Capt. Richard Taliaferro (3) was a man of great consequence as he patented more than 10,000 acres in what was later Amherst and Nelson Counties Virginia, and other land in Patrick Co. Va.

He served as a Colonel in the English (or Colonial) Army and attained the rank of Captain. The exact date of his death is not known but tradition (among some of his descendants) has it that he met his death while he and his men were crossing the Potomac River in an open flat-boat about 1748. Wife:
Married 6-10-1726 to
ROSE BERRYMAN, dau. of Major Benjamin Berryman and Elizabeth (Newton) Berryman. Elizabeth Newton was the d. of John Newton, who was a son of Thomas Newton, Esq. of Charleston Manor and Kingston-on Hull, England. Rose Berryman was one of 22 children, of whom 17 reached maturity.

Capt. Richard Taliaferro (3) and Rose(Berryman) Taliaferro were the parents of 13 children, one of whom died an infant. Two of these children were named Richard. One died at birth.

FOREWORD

This sketch has been compiled for the purpose of preserving the family history and heritage of Dr. John Taliafrro and his beloved wife, Mary Hardin. When I began this work, I had no idea that their descendants were so numerous and the families so widely scattered; I have that the task of completing the rolls of descendants lies beyond the limits of my pen, and depends largely upon the interest manifested by the various branches of the family. There are more than one hundred and fifty families who have failed to send me their lines of descent and I have been unable to record their names in the lineage. I desire to make acknowledgements to those, who from the start, have given me not only sympathetic encouragement, but substantial help. I desire especially to thank Judge Lewis Wiley Rigsby, Cairo, Ga., who has fostered the publication of this work; his unceasing co-operation and his careful management, have me an otherwise arduous task, comparatively light; and without his unnumbered courtesies, this sketch could never have been compiled. And to those who have lent me a helping hand by going through old files and papers, old church records, old state records, family Bibles, and various other documents to secure dates and records which soon, perhaps, would have passed into oblivion; for their substantial help and co-operation, I feel myself a lasting debtor. The list includes; Mrs. Minnie Bagley Bradshaw, Judge Ira Stanley Chappell, the late Mr. Clifton Thomas Chappell, Miss Judy Franklin, Mr. Shadrack C. Franklin Mr. Alfred L. Holman (Genealogist), Mr. Joseph Edward Hendrix, Mrs. Olive McWilliams Hatcher, Miss Adele Ivey, Mrs. Coral Beville Jones, Mrs. Lenora Jones (Mrs. Sidney J.), Mrs. Mayme Callaway Jones, Mrs. Julia Porter Kitchene, Mrs. Winifred Stewart Kent, Mr. Walter Wylie Lovill, Judge Lewis Wiley Rigsby, Mrs. Fannie Johnson Shelverton, Mr. Charles P. Taliaferro, Mrs. Louise Ivey Whitehurst, Mrs. Bettie Brantley Wright, Mrs. Pattie Franklin Taliaferro and numerous others, who have helped preserve the records of this family. The shortcomings of the work are mine. May there yet be some other descendant better qualified for this work than I, who will undertake and complete the task which I have begun.

D. DR. JOHN TALIAFERRO (4) (Richard (3) John (2) Robt (1).
B. 4-7-1733 Caroline Co. Va. d. 4-7-1821, Wilkinson Co. Ga.

Dr. John Taliaferro (4) to whose memory this sketch is dedicated, was a son of Capt. Richard Taliaferro and Rose (Berryman) Taliaferro. He was born in Caroline Co. Va. on 4-7-1733. Of his childhood and early life but little is known; he was one among a large family of children. He lived in Historic Virginia, with its stately customs and traditions, and surrounded by a wide circle of kinfolk. He was educated, no doubt, in Caroline County in an environment, which influenced his young life and indelibly impressed on his heart a love for religion that caused him in later years to develop into the good man that he was. At the age of fifteen, his father was called by death, thus leaving his mother with a great responsibility of business and home cares. Dr. John and his older brother, Zachariah, doubtless helped to bear this burden and relieved her of much of the responsibility.

The exact time that Dr. John received a call to the ministry is unknown, but it was probably during early manhood. He studied medicine and became a great physician in the Colony. His friends called him by the familiar term "Dr. John," this to distinguish him from the many John Taliaferro's, who lived in Virginia at that time.

Dr. John Taliaferro first patented land in Pittsylvania Co. in 1769. At the outbreak of the American Revolution, he bravely responded to his country's call; and on Sept. 12, 1776, he organized a company of Minute-Men, of which he was made a Captain. (Va. State Library Rept. Vol.8, p.426; National Society Daughters of American Revolution, Nat'l No. 139572). The Pittsylvania Co. records show that in 1779 he sold his property, spoken of as "his home," and moved to Surry Co. N.C. With a heart filled with love for his fellowman, his country and his God, he left his home and relatives in the Old Dominion State and crossed the Blue Ridge Mountains into Surry Co. to do a greater and nobler work that God had planned for him. With the family of Dr. John Taliaferro, came his beloved friend, Bernard Franklin, and his family, to Surry, where they settled on Fisher's River.

Surry County is one of the northwestern counties of N.C. and joins Grayson, Carroll, and Patrick Co. Va. It is a romantic section and produces a people equally romantic. The highest part of the majestic Blue Ridge, a branch of the great Alleghany, stands in bold view, overlooking the country. From its base flow many crystal streams as cold as ice water can be made in Southern cities. Some of them are dignified with the names of "river," Thus there are "Mitchells River," "Big Fisher's River," and "Little Fisher's River"; and of creeks there are "Stewart's Creek," "Ring's Creek," "Beaver Dam Creek" and so forth. All these streams with branches and springs constantly pouring into them, after running a short and swift course, precipitate themselves into pure, clear, and rapid Yadkin. Near the foot of the Blue Ridge, on its spurs and ridges, and on those rivers and creeks, lived the families of Dr. John Taliaferro & Bernard Franklin.

But, Shipp's Muster-Ground, on Ring's Creek, lying between Big Fisher's and Little Fisher's River was the common center of rendezvous for the whole country. These two rivers took their names from the loftiest peak of the Blue Ridge chain of the Alleghany, called "Fisher's Peak." It is a peak of overwhelming beauty and grandeur. It was named after Colonel Daniel Fisher, who ran the line between Virginia and North Carolina to the top of this peak. The line crosses this lofty point near its centre. The tradition of the country says (and it is supposed to be true) that, Mr. Fisher being a fleshy man, the ascent of the mountain overcame him and he fell sick and died and was buried on its height.

Near the base of the mountain, and a few miles east, south, and southwest of it, lived a healthy, hardy, honest, uneducated set of pioneers, unlike, in many respects, any set of pioneers that ever peopled any other portion of the Lord's globe. They came mostly from Virginia, and a portion of them from the middle and lower parts of North Carolina, and a few from other sections -- a sufficient number from all parts to make a singular and pleasing variety. The emigrants from Virginia furnished exceptions to the general claims of Virginians, most of whom claimed to belong to the "first families"; but it was honor enough for them that they came from "Fuginny." This section was settled between the years 1770-80. They had stirring times during the Revolution. The early settlers were pretty equally divided between Whigs and Tories. A majority were probably Tories, but the Whigs, headed by a few daring spirits, held the Tories in check and drove them to mountain fastnesses.

Dr. John Taliaferro (4) was a teacher and Baptist preacher and the only physicion in Surry County at that time. He followed Green's army as surgeon, and administered to the sick and wounded soldiers, giving to them such comfort and physical relief as only skilled hands can offer; and pouring forth his very soul in words of spiritual comfort to the dying upon the field.

Dr. John owned a considerable tract of land on "Big Fisher's River, about six miles from the place that he lived on and that Mr. Lovill now owns; also, a hundred acres on Moore Fork, jut two miles from the old home place.

In 1790-91 Dr. John Taliaferro and his daughter-in-law, Dorcas Taliaferro, were offered government land in Georgia, which they accepted; Dorcas receiving a tract of 3000 acres on Fishing Creek in Baldwin Co., Georgia, and Dr. John a similar tract in the adjoining county of Wilkinson. He divided his land in Surry County among his children who wished to remain there; the records showing deeds made by Dr. John Taliaferro, 1790-91 to his son Charles Taliaferro with his sons-in-law Levi Pruitt, Joseph Porter and a party by the name of _____ Lay, as witnesses. His daughter, Anna (Taliaferro) McCrary, had already previously moved from Va. to Baldwin Co. Ga. Here he spent the declining years of his life; years of usefulness and of service to humanity and God. Doctors were scarce and the churches were scattered, but he lost no time in doing what he could. Religious gatherings were ofter held in the homes, people coming from a long distance to worship and attend the preaching services conducted by Dr. John Taliaferro.

This record is taken from the Church book of Mt. Nebo Church, Wilkinson Co. Ga. and is in the possession of J. Reddick McCook:

"John Taliaferro, received by letter Aug. 24, 1816. Died 4-7-1821. Lyndia Taliaferro, received by letter Aug. 23, 1817. Dismissed July 21, 1821.

In 1819 there was a land grant issued by Gov. John Forsyth to Dr. John Taliaferro, for Revolutionary services; this together with his other property being located in Wilkinson Co. A few years after his removal to Georgia, his sons-in-law, Levi Pruitt and Joseph Porter, settled with their families in Warren and Wilkinson Counties. His son Charles and his dau. Judith, remained with their families at the old home place, in Surry Co. N.C. For many years the letters passed between relatives in Ga. & N.C., and although the postage was 25¢ per letter and mails very slow and uncertain, these families managed to keep in touch with one another.

Dr. John Taliaferro passes away at his home in Wilkinson Co. Ga. on his 88th birthday, 4-7-1821. His will was probated in said Co. July term of Court of the same year.

The life of Dr. John Taliaferro is remarkable in many ways. The keynote of love which shed its ray of gladness upon his heart and life told of the nature of God, who is love; it told of the human and divine love which answere to each other and like reflect-mirrors, act and react on each other endlessly. His home is credited with being an institution of religion and love, the one merg-into the other; for what is religion but the embodiment of love? His beloved wife and children were the inspiration of his very being; the love he bore for them, and they for him, surpasses all understanding. The sad loss of the eldest son, Richard Taliaferro, who fell on Guilford's Battle Ground, cast a shadow over his life which followed him to the grave. This brave boy was the pride of his heart; the light of his life; the embodiment of the truth, honor and trust which filled his soul with joy. Through the remaining years of the life of Dr. John grief and pride were thus mingled in his heart, drawing him closer by the ties of family love, making his life work among his fellow men even sweeter and greater than even before. The preservation of family names seems to have been unwritten law in his home; and it has descended into his posterity, and is still in evidence among the present generation. Lucy is said to have been his favorite child; that this was nothing more than his paternal love for his baby child; she being several years younger than his other children. When he removed to Ga. he gave his property in Va. and N.C. to his other children; this explaining why they received such a small portion at his death. It has been said of him that his heart was kind, his disposition smooth and temperate; his manner gentle; his tact for making friends remarkable. His impartial nature, his many deeds of benevolence, his marked degree of pride were, in the communities where he resided, without parallel.

In addition to the great love which he bore his family, there lies in the life of Dr. John three outstanding virtues; three noble qualities that one seldom finds combined in the heart and soul of mortal man. He was a doctor of medicine; he was a soldier; and he was a minister of the Gospel. He served his fellow men; he served his nation; and he served his God. In him his fellow man found such ministering services as only skilled hands can offer; in him his country found one of the loftiest virtues which the Almighty has implanted in the heart of man -- true patriotism, which is only founded on exalted principles and supported by great virtues; and lastly, in him his Creator found a meek and thankful heart, a heart that responded to his Master's bidding, a soul devoted to His service. May the descendants of Dr. John Taliaferro remember with great pride his glorious examples that they may imitate them. Through the years to come may in their lives there shine some of his reflected glory, such as only comes from high and noble characters; may they ever perpetuate his memory, and in so doing, build unto him a lasting monument; for in the words of Daniel Webster, "If we work upon marble it will perish; if we work upon brass time will efface it; if we rear temples they will crumble into dust; but if we work upon immortal souls, if we imbue them with principle, with the just fear of God and love of fellow man, we engrave those tablets with something which will brighter all eternity."

Then with apologies to John Oxenham, well might we in reverence bow our heads and say:

"Dr. John is dead, they said ! Dr. John the Teacher, Dr. John, Doctor, Soldier, Preacher.
Dr. John is dead they say! Fighting the fight, holding the light, into the night.
Dr. John is dead they say! But the light shall burn the brighter, and the night shall be the lighter, for his going; and a rich, rich harvest for his sowing.
Dr. John is dead they say! What is death to such a one as Dr. John? One sigh perhhance, for work upfinished here.
Then a swift passing to mightier sphere. New joys, perfected powers, the vision clear, and all the amplitude of Heaven to work. The work he held so dear.
Dr. John is dead they say! Not dead, nor sleeping! He lives on! His name, shall kindle many a heart to flame, The fire he lighted shall burn on and on, and all the kingdom of the earth be won, and won.
A soul so fiery sweet can never die, but lives and loves through all eternity."

NOTES

For several years there has existed among the descendants of Dr. John Taliaferro a difference of opinion as to whether he was twice married. Tradition in Surry Co. N.C. states that his wife Mary Hardin, who was the mother of his children, lies buried in an unmarked grave in the old Taliaferro-Franklin burial ground in Surry; other traditions say that she is buried in the same grave with a daughter Sallie, who was a dwarf, and died at the same time her mother passed away. However, the will of Henry Hardin, dated 1796, disproves the claim that his daughter Mary, died prior to the removal of Dr. John Taliaferro to Georgia in 1790-1; and doubt that she was the mother of all of his children. History of Baldwin Co. Georgia, p. 261 shows that John Taliaferro married Lydia Howard in 1814. Her name appears on the old records of Mt. Nebo Church and was probably the 2nd wife of Dr. John.

Mr. Shadrack C. Franklin, formerly of Mt. Airy, N.C. Member of Legislature 1887, secured this paper:

"On one of the old records of Surry Co. I find the following entry on p. 13. State of N.C. Surry Co. At the Court House in Richmond on the 2nd Monday in Nov. being the 12th day of the year of our Lord 1781 and in the 6 yrs of American Independence.

Present Martin Armstrong Esq. Adjourned till tomorrow morning, 9 o'clock.

Tuesday 13th, November Court met according to adjournment. Present Martin Armstrong, Gibson Woolridge, Esqs., Administration of the Estate of Richard Taliaferro dec'd (son of Dr. John) is granted to Dorcas Taliaferro wife and relict of said dec'd who entered into Bond with John Taliaferro and William T. Lewis in the sum of 500 specie. Ordered that letters of ad. issue accordingly administratrix qualified according to law.

"Ordered by the court that Dorcas Taliaferro wife and relict of Richard Taliaferro, who fell in his country's cause be recommended to the General Assembly as a proper person to be exempt from paying taxes etc. She having a helpless family to support."

Witness my hand and official seal at office in Dobson, N.C. Aug. 1, 1812. W. W. Hampton, Clerk Superior Court, Surry Co. N.C. An old County Seat. A true copy.

(The above mentioned William T. Lewis was evidently related by blood or marriage to the family of Dr. John Taliaferro. Mark Hardin Taliaferro in "Fisher's River Scenes" refers to him as "Uncle Billie Lewis.". "Uncle Billie" was probably a great uncle of the auther, and married a sister of Dr. John Taliaferro.)

Gov. Jesse Franklin and Richard Taliaferro were close friends and brothers-in-law; Richard married Dorcas Perkins and Jesse m. Meekie Perkins.

Family tradition says that Henry Hardin helped to keep the camp fires burning on the night before the Battle of Kings Mountain.

Mark Hardin, brother of Mary, was a close friend of Col. Cleveland, who was one of the four Colonels who fought at King's Mt. He helped Cleveland arrest Tories during the Revolution and lived in Alleghany Co. across the Blue Ridge from Surry. CoL.Cleveland was an uncle of Jesse and Uncle of Shadrack Franklin.

Schenck's History "North Carolina 1780-81" in describing the Battle of Guilford Court House, p. 309-10 says, "The next volunteer corps of Virginia was a battalion of riflemen under Col. Chas.Lynch I have not been able to find in Johnson or Lee, who give particulars, or in any general history, an estimate of their number. In a note, p.269, Lee says; "Col. Lynch had lately joined, commanding one of the battalions of Virginia militia which arrived on the 11th of March, under Brigadier Lawson and Johnson says they were all volunteers and riflemen. It may be safe to estimate them between one and two hundred men, say 150.

"This was the Col. Charles Lunch who gave the name of "Lynch Law" to the summary punishment of violent and desperate criminals. He was of Quaker descent and an ardent Whig; he folded up his non-combatant principles when they were in the way of his patriotic impulses. He inflicted these punishments generally on the worst class of Tories; but to his character for mercy, be it said, he did not take human life. In Judge Lynch's court there generally sat as associated Robert Adams and Thomas Calloway, and an old commemorating their judgements ran thus; "Hurrah for Colonel Lynch, Capt. Bob and Calloway, They never turned a Tory loose until he shouted Liberty."

Col. Lunch d. 10-29-1796, age 60 years.

WILL OF JOHN TALIAFERRO (4)

Records of Returns -- Winkinson County, Ga. 1820 to 1828. P.21.

In the name of God, Amen. Whereas, knowing all flesh to be subject to death, and being anasarcal and looking for a change, have a desire to distribute my worldly property while sould in mind. My first request is that my body be decently buried without superfluity. The next, that my debts be justly paid, that are just, and then as my wife and myself drew a contract before marriage, that is, that she set up no claim to my property nor I myself as heir set up any right to hers, but at my death deliver all her property to her and then I lend her during life and her widowhood the land from the cutoff along this side the lane next the house, with the use of the spring and all the houses and cleared land, and also Jack and Arey and family, with cattle, hogs, corn and fodder to serve the first year, or her hundred dollars as the contract called for, but the land is not to be rented nor the negroes to be hired, but the whole of my property left together until my wife's death, then to be divided as follows; I give my son Richard's three daughters Jean, Mary and Judy, one hundred dollars, each of them. My daughter Rose, I give the youngest mare I left with her, and ten dollars. My daughter Elizabeth, I give the horse I left with her, and ten dollars. My daughter Anne , I give ten dollars. My sons, Charles and Benjamin I give to each of them ten apiece.

Now for the remainder of my children, Judith, Mary, Behthland and Lucy, I lend during their natural lives, but to be divided as follows; Lucy is to have the land from the cutoff down each branch to the lines next to Joe Jones, then from the cutoff along the lane next to their house to the Spring, with the care of my old wench Sabina, then I lend her during natural life my wench Betty and her children, but give the whole of the property at her death that is mentioned to her children, except Sabina, which is to possess her house and property. As for the remaining part of my property, I lend during life my other three daughters, Judith, Mary and Behetland, but the property I give to their children. After the death of my wife, the whole of my property is to be sold by giving such credit as it will bring the most and after collected equal distribution made to the legatees.

Now for the true performance of my last will and testament, I leave my beloved friend, Gen. John Scott, John Jones and Elijah Lingo, and I do revoke all other wills and leave this as my will and testament.

In witness wherof, I have set my hand the 3rd day of April, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and seventeen.

Probated July, 1821, Ordinar's Court, Wilkinson Co. Ga. p. 37-38 Records of Returns Ordinary's office appears record of sale of his property and appraisers return of John Taliaferro (4)

Dr. John Taliaferro (4) married about 1755 to Mary Hardin, d. of Henry Hardin and Judith (Lynch) Hardin. Henry Hardin was the son of the French Emigrant, Mark Hardin, (b. 1660) in Rouen, France; d 1734 in Prince William Co. Va.) and his wife, Mary (Hogue) Hardin. The will of Henry Hardin dated 5-25-1796, recorded in Pittsylvania Co., Va., names his wife, Judith, and daughter, Mary Taliaferro. Family tradition says that Judith Lynch came from the Lynch Settlement, which is now Lynch Station, near Lynchburg, Va.; these places being named for her family. Her brother, Capt. "Bill Lynch, served in the Revolution. She is said to have been closely related to the Charles Lynch, who originated the famous "Lynch Law," and the Lynch who founded Lynchburg and owned the ferry at that place but the degree of relationship is unknown. (See Sketch of Hardin Family by L. W. Rigsby.)

RICHARD TALIAFERRO (5)

(1) Richard Taliaferro (5) (John 4, Richard 3, John 2, Robt.1) Born 1756 in Va. Caroline Co. Died at Guilford Court House, 3-15-1781.

Richard Taliaferro (5) followed his fathers example, joined the Volunteer Riflemen from Wilkes, Surry, Stokes, Forsyth, and Guilford Counties, N.C. He enlisted at the same time with his cousin and brother-in-law, Jesse Franklin, North Carolina's distinguished son and governor. He was 25 years of age at the time of the Battle of Guilford Court House, went into battle with his cousin, Jesse Franklin, then 17 years old. They were scouts of his Cousin, Capt. Ben Cleveland. Jesse and Richard rode down from Surry to join Green's forces and fought as privates, side by side; jesse loading their two old flint locks and Richard doing the firing. Richard killed several British and was killed after the order was given to retreat. The N.C. troops were the last to leave the field.

Richard was the last man in the field at Guilford; he died from a saber thrust from one of Tarleton's draggoons, 3-15-1781. He gave his life and blood that the American people might find rest in the folds of that grand old flag, the red-white and blue; he pledged his life, his heart and his soul of honor, to love and protect the liberty for which it stands. He shed his blood that its stars and stripes might be our dreams and our labors, that they may ever be bright with cheer, brilliant with courage, firm with faith, because he, Richard Taliaferro the hero of Guilford's Battle ground has helped to make them so. May his descendants never forget these things slse how can we hope the future will grant our prayer, "Long may it wave o'er the land of the free and the home of the Brave!"

Lord Cornwallis had three horses killed from under him during the battle; the first, a large iron grey, killed near the Ross house on the s.w partion of the grounds. The 2nd, a dragoon's horse improvised for the occasion, shot near the Battle Ground line north of the present restaurant; third, a celebrated stallion named "Roundhead," which Tarleton had stolen from the farm of Judge Moore in Chatham Co. Ref: For further study of Battle of Guilford, see: Schneck's History, "North Carolina 1780-81," Chapters 7 and 8, as it is the most comprehensive description ever attempted. This history records on p. 301, the following; "It is not only true that these rifleman of Surry were present, but they were the very last to leave the field, after Tarleton's final charge which dispersed the American forces on the left; for in that charge Taliaferro, of Surry, was killed, and Jesse Franklin, afterwards Governor of N.C. and U.S. Senator from N.C. made a very narrow escape. The narrative of these occurrences is given by Caruthers, in his Sketches of N.C. 2nd series, upon the authority of the present Judge Jesse Franklin Graves, a grandson of Gov. Franklin, than whom no better man or purer Judge now adorns the bench of the Old North State."

Dr. John Taliaferro (4), father of Richard, who was surgeon in Gen. Green's Army was doing all he could to relieve suffering soldiers the day Richard was killed. After his son was buried, where he fell, the wounded were moved to the Quaker Settlement, four miles away, "New Garden"--now Guilford College. and he worked among the wounded as long as his services were needed, burying many in the graveyard there. He did all he could for the British that were left on the field and rebuked his daughter, Judith, who was helping him, for wishing to favor the Americans.

Richard Taliaferro (5) was buried on the field at Guilford Battle Grounds, where on the crest of the hill beyond Lake Wilfong, there is a monument erected by Gov. Thomas M. Hold in 1893 to the memory of three heroes of the battle, Maj. Joseph Winston, Capt. Jesse Franklin and Richard Taliaferro. The tablet reads; "In memory of N.C. Troops under Maj. Joseph Winston, who were fighting the Hessian and Tarleton's cavalry near this spot after the Continental lines had retreated from the field of battle, 3-15-1781." On the side of the stone are inscribed the names; Maj. Joseph Winston, Capt. Jesse Franklin, Richard Taliaferro, and "Palman qui meruit ferat."

A poem by Harry Jerome Stockard read at the dedication of this monument is as follows;

"This is the ground where Patriots bled;
Wide scattered here are Guilford's dead,
Peace! come with slow and reverent tread,
And voices all subdued,
Break not their long, deed love engendered solitude.
Where silence reigns above the field,
Once wild the thundering squadrons wheeled,
Earth jarred, and armies swerved and reeled."

"Me sees I hear that volley's roar,
And see -- but now I see no more!
Lo! through the clouds of smoke they pour,
Draggoons and Hessian slaves,
And Winston's level flame rolls back their circling glives."

"But that fierce onset is not stayed,
They fought those legions undismayed,
They meet; they mix; blade rings in blade
Till but the dead and he remain
Brave Taliaferro could die, but never flee!

"Dead is that soul that does not flame
at sight of Gulford's deathless name
And her three children's -- heirs of fame!
By Alamance's Child
Graven on that fair memorial to their dead up-piled,"

The graves of Ex-Gov. Jesse Franklin and Joseph Winston are beside this monument, the former having been removed from Surry Co. The headstone says, "b. 1764, d. 1824. Joseph Winston's remains were removed from Forsyth Co.---b. June, 1740, d. 4-1815.

Beyond the hill by the Winston monument lies the old site of the Court House. All traces of the town are not yet obliterated. One handsome oak stands there, known as Battle Ground Oak. Tradition says Gen. Greene tied his horse to it during the battle. Slight indentation of the old roads known as Adams Street, Green Street, and Battle Street can be seen. Andrew Jackson lived at this village for awhile and there was admitted to the practice of law in the county court.

It is said by members of the family that when Jess Franklin brought Richard Taliaferro's horse and trappings home from the battlefield, that his dogs recognized his clothing, whined and moaned for him. This scene was so pathetic that it was indelibly impressed upon the hearts of all who witnessed the return of the horse without his master. The memory of Richard Taliaferro is long cherished among the descendants, especially those living on the old plantation in Surry.

Richard Taliaferro (5) married in Buckingham Co. Va. --

Dorcas Perkins

During the Revolution they moved to Surry Co. N.C. settling on Fisher's River, near the home of his father. After her husbands death, at the Guilford Co. Court House, she took her three small daughters, one an infant, to the home of her father-in-law, Dr. John Taliaferro. These two families lived many years in the same home and they both moved to Georgia at the same time.

After the widow Dorcas moved her family to Dr. John's home, there were two girls in this home bearing the same name of "Mary Taliaferro" so to avoid confusion, Richard's daughter, Mary Hardin Taliaferro, was given a nickname of "Nancy," by which she was called as long as she lived; however, she signed her real name in writing.

Mary Hardin Taliaferro (6)(above) had a great love which she bore her family as evident by the names which she bestowed upon her children. The family Bible, Court Records, Land grants, etc., show that three of her sons bore the name of Taliaferro and tow of them, Richard Taliaferro. After the death of her husband in 1830. she moved to Clopton, Ala. Her eldest son, Richard Taliaferro Lingo, built a home for her and her daughter, Elizabeth (Lingo) Rogers, who was a widow at that time. After the remarriage of Elizabeth to a Baptist minister by the name of Loften, Mary Hardin (Taliaferro) Lingo came back to Georgia and made her home with her youngest son, Taliaferro Lingo, near Americus, Ga. where she died in 1850. She is buried in the old Lingo graveyard near Americus. Her children inherited her portion of the land on Fisher's Creek in Baldwin Co. Ga. which was given to her mother, Dorcas Taliaferro, "as widow of Richard Taliaferro, who fell in his country's cause."

The Lingo family is of Italian origin, the name being originally spelled "Lingot" but the pronunciation of the letter "t" is silent. This family emigrated to Ireland, probably about 1600. The Irish emigrant, who came to America was John Richard Lingo, who settled at Lewiston, Delaware about 1750. His son William Lingo, was b. at Lewiston, Del. in 1753; d. in Maury Co. Tenn. in 1836. m. 1773, to Sussannah _____?. William Lingo served in the Rev. War as a private, in Battle of Guilford and Eutaw Springs. He enlisted in 1779. (Verified by original Pension Application on file in Pension Bureau; see Nat. Soc. DAR No. 139572.) Wm Lingo had sons, Elijah Lingo, b. in Lewiston, Del., 1774, m. Mary Hardin Taliaferro; John A. Lingo, b. 1776 and moved to Cumberland Md. in 1810. His sons were: E.A. Lingo Uniontown, Penn.; Wm. H. C. Lingo, b 1802, d 1842, of Lebanon, Ohio John A. Lingo has many descendants living in Ohio, Penn. Missouri and Texas. The Texas branch of the family are quite wealthy, having amassed a large fortune in the lumber business at Dennison, Texas.

Elijah Lingo moved from Lewiston, Del. to Cumberland, Md.; later moving to Wilkinson Co. Ga. about 1793-4. It was here he met and married Mary Hardin Taliaferro. The resided for several years in Wilkinson Co., near the present site of Lewiston, Ga.; this small town being named for his old home in Delaware. They later moved to Hancock County. From Hancock, to Twiggs Co., returning to his old home in Wilkinson Co. in 1815. He was a man of trust and executive ability and was made one of the executors of the will of Dr. John Taliaferro. Dr. John loved him as though he were his own son and had great trust and confidence in him. He died in 1830 and is buried in the Old Lingo Family burial ground in Wilkinson Co. The writer has no proof of the military services of Elijah Lingo, but as his children drew bounty land in Baldwin and Twiggs Counties, seems evidence that he served, either in the Indian War or the War of 1812.

WAR RECORD OF CAPT. WILLIAM LINGO JOHNSON

In April, 1861, Joseph E. Brown, Gov. of Ga., ordered 20 companies of infantry to rendezvous at Augusta, Ga. for services in the Army of the Confederate States. "The Sumter Light Guards, Company K., 4th Ga." commanded by Capt. W. L. Johnson of Sumter Co., was mustered in as the 4th Regiment Ga. Vol. commonly known as the "Fourth Georgia." The Reg. left Augusta, May 3rd, arriving at Portsmouth, Va. May 5, 1861. Capt. Johnson retired at the expiration of his term of service 1862 and entered the Quartermasters' Dept. under Major Geo. W. Crice, where he remained until the close of the war. He was transferred from Portsmouth, Va., to Americus Commissary. He came to Macon and surrendered to Wilson and was dismissed on parole from the army in April 1865.

WAR RECORD OF LEWIS KUNZE

Lewis Kunze (father of Anne E. (Kunze) Johnson, served 6 mo. under Col. Wm Cumming as a member of the "Vol. Co. of Augusta Independent Blues" in the expedition to Florida in 1811 and a second campaign under Capt. Wm Kennedy in Savannah during the War of 1812.

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF HENRY ROGERS JOHNSON SR.

Henry Rogers Johnson, Sr. b 10-2-1830, Macon, Ga. s. of John Clark Johnson, a veteran of the War of 1812, and Beheathland Berryman Lingo. He and his bro. W. L. Johnson, were merchants, dealing in everything from cotton to farm and household supplies. They brought a stock of goods from Macon on the first train that went through to Americus, Ga. Oglethorpe, Ga. was the terminus of the Central of Georgia Railroad for a long while, boasting at one time of a population of 20,000 people, most of whom moved further south when the railroad was extended. They rented a church on reaching Americus, and sold their entire stock of goods before the following Sunday. They opened up cotton business with a mercantile side line and moved their families down.

Henry Rodgers Johnson, Sr. served as private in the early part of the War Between the States; then he became quartermaster; latter part of war he joined Ga. Militia; was cited for an act of bravery at the skirmish of Griswoldville, Ga. After the close of the war, he and Thomas Harrold opened a cotton warehouse; later Uriah Harrold, the son of Thomas, was his partner. For 40 years the firm of Johnson and Harrold was outstanding in Southwest Georgia for honesty, fair dealing and good business. These men helped build Americus, helped to make it a good cotten center.

Henry Rogers Johnson, Sr. attended school a few years; married at the age of 18; but he was constantly improving himself; had a splendid library to which he was continually adding more good books. He was very fond of music, playing the flute himself, while his wife and children played other instruments. He was very ambitious for his children and gave them every advantage. He and his wife traveled quite a bit and always came home with new ideas and new books. In the eighties he bored a deep well, erected a windmill and installed the first modern water system, with bath tubs, etc., in Americus, Ga. It wasn't long before others were doing likewise. He and his partners had the first phone system in that section of the State, having only four numbers. He befriended many a struggling young man, helped many families both white and black, to buy a home. Their gratitude was very touching; they knew how he valued their love.

He was a man of great determination and would rarely let anything stand in his way. When he was a small boy, he dropped his knife in a mill pond near Macon. After thinking it over, he cut the mill dam, went home and after the water ran out, went back and found his precious knife. No one knew until he was grown that he cut the dam. He died 12-4-1904.

His sudden death prevented its completion; and the writer feels keenly, the great loss of his passing. Judge Ira S. Chappell, Dublin, Ga., who was assisting him, has secured the information his deceased brother had collected, which is recorded in this sketch.

ROSE (TALIAFERRO) PORTER (5)

Rose Taliaferro (5) d. of Dr. John & Mary (Hardin) Taliaferro, b. in Virginia. Married to Joseph Porter It is believed that they were married in Va. before the removal of her parents from Va. to N.C. They resided in Surry County for several years. Joseph Porter, as a "son-in-law," was one of the witnesses of the transfer of lands made by Dr. John Taliaferro (4) and his son, Charles Taliaferro (5) in 1790-91. The Porters moved to Georgia with Dr. John Taliaferro and settled in Wilkinson Co. The old land grants of the Porter family are still in existance. No doubt, they were given to Joseph Porter for his Revolutionary services. (The writer does not possee this information) A creek in Wilkinson Co. bearing the name "Porter's Creek" was named for Joseph Porter. The will of Joseph Porter was probated in Wilkinson Co. Ga. Sept. term of Or.Court, in 1825. Named are his wife Rose, his daughters, Elizabeth and Behthland and his sons, Ambrose, Richard and John Taliaferro. John was eldest son and his father's executor. Will witnessed by Sara Redding.

When Pleasant Plains Church, Wilkinson Co. Ga. was founded in 1830, the original church roll named the following Porters: Ambrose Porter; Julius Porter; Richard Taliaferro Porter, Isaac Porter; Elizabeth Porter; Anna Porter; Mary C. Porter; Charles Porter; Rose Porter.

Later the names of Behthland, Lynch, and Julius M. Porter were added. Joseph and Rose (Taliaferro) Porter have numerous descendants, but as the old Porter Family Bible was carried to Irwin Co. Ga. when a branch of the family removed there, it has been impossible to connect some of the descendants with this family. Circumstantial evidence indicates that the grandchildren of Joseph Porter have intermarried; this making it difficult to trace them. This sketch records only one line of descendants of Joseph and Rose (Taliaferro) Porter; , that of Richard Taliaferro Porter, which was compiled by his grandson, Mr. J. E. Hendrix, Mexia, Ala.

Notes

According to information furnished by Mrs. Julia Porter Kitchens, Danville, Ga. Mrs. Kitchens' great-grandmother was Behethland Porter who married her first cousin, Julius Porter. Julius and Behethland (Porter) Porter had sons:

1. Thomas Porter m ? Issue:
   - (a) John Porter, m.? "
     1. Julia Porter, m. C. G. Kitchens, Danville, Ga.
   - (b) C. C. Porter
   - (c) Napoleon Porter

2. Richard Porter m. Sallie Hogan. Issue:
   - (a) Richard Porter
   - (b) Raz Porter, moved to Irwin Co. Ga.
   - (c) Hamp Porter
   - (d) Griff Porter.

Mrs. Kitchens states that Raz Porter, after the death of his father, moved to Irvin Co. Ga.; going with him were his mother, Sallie Hogan Porter, and his grandmother, Behethland (porter). Mrs. Kitchens cannot identify her great grandfather, Julius Porter; although, Mr. J. E. Hendrix states that his mother spoke of him as "Uncle Julius." The writer thinks that said Julius Porter was probably a nephew of Joseph Porter, who married Rose Taliaferro, and that Behethland (Porter) wife of Julius, was a daughter of Joseph and Rose (Taliaferro) Porter, and the same behethland who is mentioned in the will of her father in 1825. This branch of the Porter family has numerous descendants living in Georgia and Arkansas.

Mrs. Ida Virginia (Bolejack) Taliaferro has the unusual distinction of being the oldest granddaughter of Chang Bunker, one of the world renowned Siamese twins. According to the best obtainable records, these twins, Chang and Eng, although born in far away Bangesau, Siam on 4-15-1811, were for the most part, of Chinese descent, there father being of Chinese extraction, went to Siam where he married a woman whose father was Chinese. Their fame might have been denied them, had not their discovery been made by a British merchant at Bangkok, Robert Hunter, who aroused the interest of Captain Coffin, the adventurous commander of a "tramp" merchant vessel, and aided the captain in persuading their parents and King Chowpahyi to allow him to carry them away on his boat, small children though they were.

After once leaving their native land, they imbibed from the captain his nomadic nature and continued their travels. At the age of 18, these boys visited Harvard University, and the records show that Chang, the left twin, was 5 ft. 1½ inches tall, while his brother Eng, the right twin was 5 ft. 2 inches tall. After touring the world and having accumulated what was then a considerable fortune, they grew tired of continout travel and decided to establish a permanent home for themselves. The nation they chose was our own land , so at the age of 44 they settled in Surry Co. N.C. at Mount Airy, then a secluded little village nestling under the shadows of the Blue Ridge Mountains, where they were considered fabulously wealthy.

They made good citizens and became very popular, being known everywhere by their American surname of Bunker. In a short while they were struck by one of Cupid's darts, and not being able to resist, they were married to two sisters, ages 26 & 28, making new homes for their wives not far distant, and to each union were born several children. Some of the older residents of the community who remember them full well, say that they differed not only in size, but in disposition too ---

Chang being a nervous temperament and "high Strung", while Eng was usually quiet and retiring, yet they always got along well together, only differing about such minor questions about where to go or what to do. On the night of Jan. 17, 1874, when nearly 63, Chang died at his home of sudden paralytic stroke while Eng was asleep. Awakening in a sudden fit of horror, and realizing that he was linked to his brother's corpse by a bond stronger than any steel, Eng expired within a few hours, before medical attention could be given him. Thus passed in this way two of the world's best known and most interesting characters.

(C) Rev. Charles Taliaferro (6) s. of Charles and Sallie (Burroughs) Taliaferro, is the same Chas. Taliaferro whose life and consecrated, Christian character is described by his brother, Rev. Mark Hardin Taliaferro, in "Fisher's River Scenes and Characters," In character and religion he was a true Taliaferro; he was highly educated and was a prominent Baptist minister in old Surry. He was loved and admired by all for his many good deeds and for the wonderful christian influence which he had over the people in this community. The oldest member of the Lingo family describe him as, "handsome, wealthy, and charming gentlemen." A photograph of him made at the age of 54 years, is reproduced in this sketch. On the same page are shown photos of his son Mark Hardin Taliaferro, made at the age of 42 years, his grandson C. P. Taliaferro, made at the age of 53 years, and his great granddaughter Miss Eliz. The following sketch of the life of the late Richard Dickerson Taliaferro was written by one of his old friends, J. A. Fowler, Duncan, Okla.

"Richard Dickerson Taliaferro came, in the year 1879, to the Dibrell Farm, Chickasaw Nation, Indian Territory. His P.O. at that time was Mayesville, Texas. The farm was located in what is now Love Co. Okla. now Leon, Okla. He had formerly lived at Austin, Texas when he came to the Indian Territory; he made his home with his brother Samuel L. Taliaferro, and took up farming and stock raising. About six years after coming here, he married Louvenia Neel, on 7-19-1885. He lived in this community about 12 years, during which time he also engaged in the Gin and Mercantile business, yet handling cattle and doing some farming. From here he moved to Duncan, Indian Territory, where he resided for 4 yrs. From Duncan he moved to Simon, Indian Territory, in what is now Love Co. Okla. From there he moved to Cannon's Chapel, where he lived only one year, then moved back to the community where he had first settled (known now as Leon) residing in this place 26 yrs.

He had been converted at the age of 12 yrs. and being an earnest, consistent christian, he took a live interest in the religious conditions on his community. During the 1st year, after coming to the Dibrell Farm, he spent considerable time riding about among the scattered settlements enlisting the interest of those who would go into the organization of a church. He was a successful organizer and found ten other persons, who went into the organization of the Mud Creek Baptist Church on the 18th day of Aug. 1880. Rev. O. J. R. Colthrop came over from Montague Co, Texas, to assist, when he recognized his three Civil War comrades, R. D., Samuel & James B. Taliaferro. This recognition was occasioned by their singing, as he had heard them sing when serving together in the War between the States. Mr. Taliaferro was made clerk of the church and served as clerk most all the time until he grew feeble and unable to do the work.

In the year 1884, he was made a Master Mason at the old Jim-town Lodge #16, and he rendered faithful service to Masonry in the early days of the settlement in the Chichasaw Nation.

His neighbors knew him as a real friend, and no man doubted his word. He was fearless in the discharge of his duty and was always found on the side of right. His love for home and his family was most ardent and those who visited in his home found it a real home for all who came into it.

He lived a useful life of more than four score years, enjoying the esteem of all who knew him. His departure was mourned by many and his influence for good lives on in the lives of his friends and relatives. He helped to carve out a new state from a wilderness and lived to see this new state make a most wonderful progress. He passed out of this life July 25, 1925, age 84 years, one mo. & 25 days."

Richard Dickerson Taliaferro is said to have composed the following song, which he sang at every Confederate Reuntion that he attended. After he became too feeble to march with the boys in gray, he still sang the song at his home, weeping because he could no longer join his comrades at the Reuntion.

"Get me my old knapsack, Mary,
And my uniform of grey,
Get my broken helmet, Mary
For 'Ill need'em all today.
Get my canteen and my leggins,
Reach me down my rusty gun,
For I'm going out parading
With the boys of '61.

(Chorus)

"Now I'm ready, darling, kiss me,
Kiss your old sweetheart, good-bye
Brush aside those wayward teardrops,
Dear, I did not think you'd cry.

"Never mind those blood-stains, Mary,
Never mind that ragged hole,
They were left there by a bullet,
That was seeking for my soul.
Just brush off those cobwebs, Mary,
Get my bonnie flag of blue,
For I'm going out parading
With the boys of '62.

(3)

"These old clothes don't get me, Mary,
Like they did when I was young.
Don't you recollect how neatly
To my manly form they clung?
Never mind that sleeve that's empty,
Let it dangle loose and free,
ForI'm going out parading
With the boys of '63.

(4)

"Pul my proud belt tighter, Mary
Fix that strap beneath my chin
I've grown old and wayworn, Mary
Like my uniform and thin;
But I recon I'll pass muster,
as I did in days of yore
For I'm going out parading
with the Boys of '64.

(5)

"Now I'm ready, darling, kiss me.
Kiss your old sweetheart, goodbye
Brush aside those wayward teardrops
Dear I did not think you'd cry
I am going forth to battle
Cheer up, Mary, sakes alive,
For I'm going out parading
With the boys of '65.

(F) Rev. Mark Hardin Taliaferro (6) s. of Chas. & Sallie (Burroughs) Taliaferro. He became a noted Baptist minister and was one of the foremost orators of the South. He moved from Surry Co. to Tenn, then to Alabama, where he edited the Southwestern Batist at Talladega. He also resided for several years at Tuskegee, Ala. He was author of several poems, which attracted much attention throughout the South. In 1857 he visited his old home in Surry Co. N.C. after an absence of 20 yrs. and while there the reminiscences of his early years naturally revived, from the influence of that strange but necessary in man's mental structure, association of ideas, and on his return he concluded to write out some of the scenes and stories of that age and section, which resulted in "Fisher's River Scenes and Characters." These humorous tales he published in 1859, and disguising himself, he used his boyhood nickname, "Skitt", as the author, Judge L.W. Rigsby, Cairo, Ga., who recently had the privelege of reading a copy of this book, says, "The reading of this book has been a real delight to me, not only because of the matters it contains and because of the personal interest, I feel because of the relationship of the author and some of the characters in the book, but also by reason of the many quaint and peculiar expressions in the book. My mother had an older sister, who used a great many of the expressions in this book, and it was like living over the days of my childhood to read it. Not only this but a great many of the stories and anecdotes had come to me by way of tradition in the family, evidently having come down from Surry Co. N.C." FISHER'S RIVER SCENES AND CHARACTERS

by

Mark Hardin Taliaferro

These tales are true and are laid in Surry Co. N.C. between the years 1820-29. They give a vivid description of old Surry and its people at that time. The following sketch is from that book.

JOHNSON SNOW

Of all the men in that romantic picturesque county, I must yield the palm, in many respects, to Johnson Snow.

He was one of the oldest settlers of Stewart's Creek, near its head, and within a few miles of the "Flour Gap" of the Blue Ridge. "Johnson" for so he was always familiarly called, had not the advantages of even a Dilworth's Spelling Book education. He had learned the common vernacular of the country, with a few additional eccentricities of his own, but he "axed nobody no boot, and could weed his own row, and keep it clean too -- that's certin."

Look at him, and you will believe every word of it, and more too. He is about five feet six inches high, well set, muscularly and powerfully made; but he is good-humored, wears a generous face, and has a warm heart. Well for the "Stewart's Creek Suckers" that he was a good-natured man. He is also fond of his eating and shows his keeping.

There was a long line of kings in Egypt that went by the Comon name of "Ptolemy," and to distinguish one Ptolemy from another the people and historians appended an adjunct expressive of the character or habits of each monarch. One of them was called "Ptolemy Physcon," or "Tunbelly." And to distinguish John Snow from the numerous Snows that lived in that region, and to give the reader some idea of the effects of a good appetite, he might with great propriety be called Tunbelly Johnson Snow.

Two things he was particularly fond of, and upon which he flourished whenever he could get them -- turnip greens and "hog's gullicks," the "Adam's apple" of a hog's haslet, or the "google," as it is commonly called. Johnson had departed from all technicalities and called it "gullick," I will add that he would help all his neighbors kill hogs for the "gullicks."

There was an arch, provoking smile ever playing upon his full face, which would attract attention in any crowd, and mark him out as a "rare bird" in any community. He had, moreover, a fund of sharp, provoking wit, running into satire lingo, a plaguy sight." His waggish wit was a terror to the whole country. Woe to the man who happened to fall into some ludicrous mishap! He never heard the last of it from Johnson. He had a "rig" on nearly every man. Johnson Snow was a necessary appendage at every public gathering. "Licker" was at them all, and he loved it as a thirsty ox does pond-water. The fact is that it sharpened his wit, and he would indulge freely for that additional reason.

Johnson Snow possessed, in addition to his waggish wit, a good deal of "hard common sense like a hoss." He was rich in resources and expedients, and seldom failed of a triumph in times of emergency.

In all the "tight fits" and "tarnatious snarls" ge got into, he would outfight, outquarrel, or outwit; and he would come in with "flying colors."

He triumphed over one of the sternest men in the community, as the following incident will show.

There lived in the neighborhood a rigid Baptist and great "Scriptotian," one of the few men in that social region that would not take some of the "good critter" but hated it most cordially. His aversion went so far that he would not let a drunken man tarry with him for the night. He was highly respected by all who knew him even by the worst drunkards, and bore two titles which were quite honorable then and there. (This was before Americans began to manufact ure amd apply titles indiscrimnately.) He was always addressed very respectfully as "Squire Charles Taliaferro" and "Cap'en Taliaferro."

Johnson knew him well, and was fully aware of his hatred to his friend "Capen Knock'-em stiff"; but what of that? Ha! Ha! I'm ready for the old 'coon, cocked and primed, and triggers sprung. I'll show him he don't know uvry thing about Scripter afore I'm done with him. This boy has dipped into Scripter as well as still-house, sure as gun's iron."

These sentences were uttered by Johnson at a "still-house," not long after he had quit Parson Bellow's church. He had just made a bet with some "jewkers" of a gallon of apple brandy that he could stay all night with "old Taliaferro, and could beat him all holler, too, talk-ing on Scripter."

Chuckling as above, he leaves a "still-house" one cold evening, "high up in the picters," and arrived at Taliaferro's gate just at sunset, altered his voice and hallooed. Taliaferro opened the door, and our hero commenced.

"Hellow, old Scripter; I come to stay all night with you. I want to talk all night with you on Scripter. I've heern you was a reg'lar built screamer in that way, and I want to try my hand with you, sartin. 'Squire, I'll talk all round you. I'll ring-fire you with Scripter, ha! ha! see her Cap'en, ef you lick me out, you can beat the old Scripter-maker, sartin. I give you far warnin."

"You cannot stay, Johnson, "replied Taliaferro. "Come when you are sober and you can stay a week, if you wish, but a drunken man shall not stay all night at my house."

"Don't be too fast, old 'coon," said Johnson; "I'll show you a trick ur two afore I'm done, sartin. You humph!" (calling a negro man named Humphrey); "come here, you bandy-shanked rascal, and take my hoss. Put him up, and in the morning', ef he ain't up to his eyes in corn and fodder, I'll larrup you well. Ha! ha! you b'longed to me once, you cathammed puke, but I gulluped you down my gullick in whiskey, and sold you to this rich man, Taliaferro, who's got too big fur his britches, and won't let me stay all night with him. But I'll show him i'm a huckle-berry over his 'simmon, sartin."

Orders were obeyed; the horse was taken, and our Stewart's creek hero walked to the door and halted. He placed one foot on the doorstep, his elbow upon his knee, his chin in his hand, with a face as long as the president of a club of pharisees, and commenced his telling speech on "Scripter."

"Ha! ha! Taliaferro, I read uv you in Scripter. You think I know nuthin' about Scripter, but I'll show you afoe I'm done. I know and read of you in that Holy Book. You're that rich man in the parrabul, which you may find by searching the 16th chapter of Luke, that fared sumptoriously urvy day, and I'm poor Lazzerus. That rich man wouldn't let poor reflicted Lazzerus come into his house, nur will you let me come into yourn nuther. Don't you see the 'nalogy? But that rich man died, too, and how was it with him? Look into Abram's bosom; see him restin' thar, safe as a bar in a hollow tree in the dead o' winter. Ah! you'll see how it will go with you and me in 'that day,' as Parson Beller calls it. When I'm shinin' away in Abram's bosom, like a piece uv new money, where will you be, Taliaferro? Don't Paul, in Hebrews, tell you to be 'careful to entertain strangers-thereby have some entertained angels? What good does all yer Scripter readin' do you, ef you don't 'ply it better? You'd better be studin' Gale's Almynac, for the good it does you. Ha! ha! you won't let me come into yer house, and even eat the crumbs what falls from your table, now groanin' and screechin' under rich dainties -- maybe some hog's gullicks on it too. I'll go out her" (leaving the door, and effecting to wee;), "and lie down in yer fence corner, and let yer dogs come and lick my sores. You'll see how it will go with us in that day, Sartin."

"Come back, Johnson," said Taliaferro, "and stay all night. I acknowledge myself beaten for once in 'Scripter," You certainly got your lesson well while you were in Bellow's church."

Nothing is known of the early childhood of Richard Taliaferro (5). The first information regarding him is found in the application which he made in 1832-3 so that he could draw the pension to which he was entitled. Date of application 11-5-1832. Then on 5-27-1833 made another application which was a supplement to the first. A copy of these applications have been secured from the National Archives, Washington D.C. and are given below:

The second application:-

"The State of Ohio, Clermont County,

Personally appeared before me the undersigned a Justice of the Peace within and for said County Richard Talisferro who being sworn ? and saith that by reasons of old age and the consequent laps of memory and saith that he cannot say as positively as to the precise length of his service as a soldier of the Revolution but according to the best of his recollection he served not less than periods mentioned below and in the following grade. For 2 yrs. and 1 mo. I served as a Private soldier, the time of enlistment was two years, but did not get my discharge until one month after the expiration of the term of enlistment, and during that month I continued to do military duty, and for such service I claim a pension. That since his declaration in Court at the last Nov. term of the Common Pleas in and for said Co. he has been in some degree induced to believe that his first enlistment took place in the Fall of the year 1779 but cannot be certain as to the month or even the year his service ended. He remembers well that his term of enlistment was for two years and that he served his time and one month and received his discharge.

We know of no Clergyman or any other person in his neighborhood who can certify as to his reputation as a soldier of the Rev.

That none of the persons with whom he served as a soldier reside in the State, but he believes that some of them are in Kentucky. To write Edward Thomas, Bland Ballard, Huring Foster, William Abbott, Aswil Cosogill, all of whom were in Kentucky when he last heard from them, that owing to bodily informity he is not able to procure the testimony of any writing and it would be attended with much expense.

That he was born in the County of Culpeper in the State of Va. on the 24th day of September in the year 1762. That he has a Bible record of his age which he copied from a Bible kept by his father, that the Bible kept by his father, he believes, is now in the possession of Judith Veetch, his sister, who resides in the State of Indiana.

That Colonel Crocket was at the Falls of the Ohio commanding some troops the last year that he was in the service.

That Samuel Perrin, James McKinzie Esq., Samuel Hill, Wm Clancy, John Owens, Tibinie Williams, and John Free (or Tree) who resides in his present neighborhood can testify to his character for veracity.

Signed
Richard Taliaferro.

Sworn before me this 27th day of May, 1833
Signed (J.W.Robinson, J.P.)"

Richard Taliaferro, as a result of the above tow applications, or statements, later drew his pension in the amount of $40.00 per semi-annual. He drew $160.00 for the months that was in arrears, plus another $40.00 for the current six months.

In Everts "History of Clermont Co, Ohio" the following is found regarding Richard Taliaferro:-

"In 1800 Richard Taliaferro was employed by General James Taylor to sell lands for him in the neighborhood of Boston (in Clermont Co.) In 1802 he brought his family from Kentucky and settled in the farm now (1880) owned by Jacob Balshizer. He (Richard Taliaferro) was twice married, his first wife was a Davis-- (this was an error as his first wife was a Jones), by whom he had five children; Zachariah, Matilda, Lucy, Emily, and Jones. His second wife was Rebecca Riddle and they had seven children: Jefferson, Riddle (this was James Riddle), Sarah, Kitura, Eliz. William and Nancy. In 1804 Richard Taliaferro built a small distillery near the present residence of Jacob Balshizer (1880), its capicity was about five gallons a day. The first school, built in 1805 was taught by a Mr. Edmunds, who continued to teach until his death in 1817. Among his pupils were Jones Taliaferro, Lucy and Matilda Taliaferro. The next school was kept at the residence of Widow Smith. This was in 1812 and continued until 1815. While attending this school Riddle Taliaferro had a "fit" and it being thought, at that time, that the warm blood of a black hen would cure the disease and the boys of the class were ordered to kill one of Mrs. Smith's black hens so that he could be treated."

Note: It is not know just what effect the above treatment had on James Riddle Taliaferro but it is known that he lived a long and fruitful life and will be covered in a later chapter.

In the "Taliaferro Family History, 1638-1899", by James T. Taliaferro, of Lebanon, Missouri, and published in limited numbers in 1900, is found the following on Richard Taliaferro:-

"Peter Taliaferro (son of Richard and Rose (Berryman) Taliaferro) born 2-12-1740; married 1761 and had issue: Richard, Zachariah, Juda, and Sarah."

"Richard Taliaferro, son of Peter Taliaferro, was b. in Fredericksburg, Va. in 1762, entered the Army at age of 15 and served several terms under Gen. Geo. Rogers Clark, descending the Ohio River from Pittsburg to the Ohio Falls in open flat-boats where they built a fort in 1778; from there they marched across country and captured Fort Vincennes; from there they marched to Fort Kaskaskia on the Mississippi and took possession of the fort, from there they marched to Cohokia, opposite St. Louis, where they remained until they were discharged. From there he (Richard) went to Cynthiana, Kentucky. In 1786 he married Sara Jones and had issue: Zachariah, Matilda, Lucy, Emily, Jones. He married secondly to Rebecca Riddle and had issue; Jefferson, James R. Sarah, Kitura, Elizabeth, William who died young, and Nancy who died young."

The above mentioned James T. Taliaferro, who compiled the above information was the son of Jones Taliaferro, and grandson of the above Richard and Sarah (Jones) Taliaferro, so as many of the grandchildren and some of the children were living at the time he was in position to know that the correct name of his grandmother was Jones, rather than "Davis" as mentioned in the "History of Clermont Co.".

Richard Taliaferro (5) and his 1st wife Sara Jones married in Lincoln Co. Ky. 2-20-1786 had issue as follows:

(A) Zachariah Taliaferro (6) b 1790, d. 1818; married Nancy Malott Issue:

E. Jones Taliaferro (6) b 2-10-1796 in Ky. d. 12-27-1880; Married in Clermont Co. Ohio. He was the first to have the given name of Jones and many of his descendants have used this name. Wife:
Eliza C. Townsley d. 2-13-1880.

According to the "The Taliaferro Family History, 1638-1899" compiled by James T. Taliaferro, who was a son of Jones Taliaferro has this to say regarding Jones Taliaferro:-

"Jones Taliaferro was b. 2-10-1796. In 1812, at the age of 16, he enlisted in the Ohio Regiment commanded by Col. Cass; was at the siege of Ft. Meigs, battle of Brownstown, and Hull's surrender of Detroit and was sent with others in open boats down the Detroit River and then coasted along the southern shore of Lake Erie to the mouth of the Cuyahoga River (now the city of Cleveland, Ohio), from that point he and another boy of his age, named Nicholas Walker, traveled on foot through the woods to Cincinnati and gave the first news of the surrender of Ft. Detroit, this news was doubted and the boys were looked upon as deserters untill the surrender was proved when the regiment straggled home. His home at this time was at Batavia, Clermont Co., Ohio, where in the year 1817 he married Eliza C. Townsley, and had issue of: Richard, Marion, Martha, Wm, Sarah, Emilia, Belinda, Nancy, James T., Townsley, Eliza C., his wife, died on the 13th day of Feb. 1880."

In Everts "History of Clermont County, Ohio" it is stated that Jones Taliaferro married a Miss Riddle. This statement is in error as it was the father of Jones Taliaferro who married his second wife Rebecca Riddle.

Jones Taliaferro (8) owned, in partnership with his brother, Micajah Stanley Taliaferro (8), a large sheep and cattle interests and gold mines at White Oaks. They also owned and operated the leading mercantile store. Jones Taliaferro was the President of the Old Hickory Mining Co. located at White Oaks. This was one of the larger gold mining concerns in that section of the country.

Jones and his brother, Micajah Stanley Taliaferro, lived in Lincoln Co. New Mexico during the local conflict that was widely known as the "Lincoln County War". This was a range war and tradition has made it one of the most extensive "range wars" of the West. History does not state just what part these brothers took, if any, in this "war" but it is known that they were friends of those that fought on both sides.

JEFFERSON TALIAFERRO (6)

Son of Richard (5), Peter (4),
Richard (3), John (2), Robert (1).

A. Jefferson Taliaferro (6) son of Richard Taliaferro (5) and his second wife, Rebecca (Riddle) Taliaferro. b. 7-18-1801 near Cynthiana Kentucky. d. 9-7-1870 at Farmers Branch, Dallas Texas. The birth and death dates are as they were recorded in the family Bible that belonged to his son Warren Taliaferro.

Jefferson Taliaferro (5) was married three times. First to Mary Snider, in Clermont Co. Ohio, 3-15-1821, by David Jones, J.P.

2nd wife: Married
Nancy McClelland, in Clermont Co. Ohio 6-27-1827, by John Robinson, J.P. Record found in Bk. 2, p.190. Jefferson's sister Elizabeth Taliaferro, married the following day to Samuel McClelland, both the children of James McClelland, a pioneer of the Northwest territory. From this it will be noted that brother and sister married brother and sister.

3rd wife:
Ruth Ayers
Married 1-28-1835, in Tazewell County, Ill. Bk. A. p.18. They lived at one time in Woodford County, which was cut from Tazewell Co.

Issue of Jefferson Taliaferro (6) and Mary Snider, 1st wife:

1. Sarah Taliaferro (7)
2. Peter Taliaferro (7)
3. Mark Taliaferro (7)

Nothing has been found regarding these three children and it is not know whether they lived to reach adulthood or not. However, there is a record in Peoria Co. Illinois, which is across the rived from Tazewell and Woodford Co. Illinois, and where Jefferson is known to have lived, of one Sara Taliaferro who married June 2, 1845 to William Crane. It is possible that this was Jefferson's daughter but no proof of this has been found.

In the 1830 Federal Census of Clermont Co. Ohio, we find that Richard Taliaferro (5) frather of Jefferson, listed as members of his household, one female, age over 5 and under 10; one male over 10 and under 15; and one male over 15 and under 20. In this census, as was the custom at that time, names were not given, only numbers. Richard Taliaferro was advanced in age at the time of this census, and as all of his known children were much older, it is believed that these three children, or at least two of them, were the children of Jefferson & Mary Taliaferro. Also, Jefferson had remarried, and removed to Peoria County, Illinois, at the time the above census was taken. Therefore, it is thought that he left his first three children with his father to escape the hardships of the frontier.

The exact date Jefferson, James Riddle and his sister Elizabeth (Taliaferro) McClelland removed to Illinois is not known. We know he married Nancy McClelland in Clermont Co. Ohio 6-27-1827, and that he was in Peoria County, Illinois as early as 1829. Spencer Ellsworth, in his book "Records of the Olden Times" which was published in Illinois in 1880, related the following:

"About 1828-29 there came, where Rome now stands, a settler named Taliaferro, the first to build his cabin on the site of the eternal city. His neighbors were four miles away, and when sickness came, and neither doctor nor nurse were to be had, he felt he was indeed a stranger in a strange land."

"One day when Taliaferro was nursing his stricken wife the Potawatomi Indian Chief, Senachwine (Se-nage-woin) (also called Petch-a-ho), heading a band of 20 or more Indian Braves, dismounted at his door, said, 'How' and took a seat at the bedside. For sometime he gazed upon the sufferer and knowing that woman's aid was most needed asked why he did not go for white squaw to help take care of her. Mr. Taliaferro replied that he could not leave her alone, then the Indian Chief proposed that he take Taliaferro's place and tend the patient until his return. The offer was accepted, and the Chief, after forbidding his Braves to enter the cabin, sat down and fanned and bathed her temples as tenderly as could her husband until the latters return."

It will be noted that the above story the "Mr. Taliaferro" is not otherwise identified but as Jefferson and his brother, James Riddle, were the only Taliaferros in Peoria County at the time, and as James Riddle Taliaferro did not marry until 1833, and as Jefferson Taliaferro later founded the town of Rome, Illinois, it would seem proper and correct to identify this "Mr. Taliaferro" as being Jefferson Taliaferro.

On 12-24-1832, twelve days after the birth of his son James Andrew Taliaferro, Jefferson Taliaferro placed upon the record at the Recorders Office of Peoria Co. Illinois, a plat of the town of Rome. See original land book D. p. 41, and plat book G. p. 126.

Jefferson Taliaferro laid out the village of Rome on a fractional quarter section number five, township 10N. of the Base line and Range 9 East of the 4th principle meridian. The streets were all 5 perches wide (rod, or 16½ ft.) and the alleys were one perch wide. The village was laid out in 24 blocks, one of which was set aside for a public square. The streets that ran parallel to the Illinois River were named in order from the river, Front, Second, Third, Fourth, and Fifth. The cross streets were named, in keeping with the names of the town, Brutus, Cicero, Cato, Octavius, Anthony, Pompey and Caesar Streets.

Records in the Peoria Co. Recorders Office, Bk.F. p. 62, shows that on the "14th day of Dec. in the year of our Lord 1835 Jefferson and his wife Ruth Taliaferro of the County of Peoria and State of Illinois"sold to Isaac Underhill their holdings (that part that was still unsold at the time) at Rome, for the sum of $5,000. lawfull money.

For many years there has been in the families of the desecedants of Jefferson Taliaferro, stories regarding some unclaimed land that belonged to him. These stories are all based on the same idea, but vary on many points. The fact that the stories exists in most all the families would seem to indicate that the stories have some truth as a base for the story. It was believed that Jefferson Taliaferro owned a tract of land of over 100 acres and that he leased this land to some party, for a term of 100 years, which would expire about 1944. Some of the stories place the land as being where St. Louis, Mo.is now located; others in East St. Louis. After some investigation it is believed that some of the stories might have come about from the sale of the land at Rome, Illinois.

The deed (or indenture as it was worded in the papers) between Jefferson and Ruth Taliaferro (his wife) and the previous mentioned Isaac Underhill seems to be a very plain and clear deed and there would be no reason th question just what was intended. Regardless of the wording of the deed there was filed on 12-14-1835 (the same day as the deed) what appears to be a condition of the mentioned deed. This condition, if it may be called such, is found in Book F., p. 63 (the same book in which the deed was recorded but is on the following page) and is as follows:

"Know All Men By These Presents That I, Isaac Underhill, of Peoria, State of Illinois, am held and firmly bound unto Jefferson Taliaferro of the said Peoria in the penal sum of $5,000 lawful money to the payment of which well and truly to be made I bind myself, my heirs, executors, adm., and assigns firmly by these presents, signed with my hand and seal with my seal and dated this 14th day of Dec., A.D. 1835. The condition of the above obligation is such that whereas said Taliaferro hath this day made and esecuted a deed of conveyance unto said Underhill for the whole of fractional sec. 5 t.10N R.9E of 4th P.M. (on which Rome is situated) also whereas said Jefferson Taliaferro hath at sundry times previous to this date executed his bond to sundry persons for deeds to certain town lots in Rome now if said Isaac Underhill shall make and execute deed of conveyance unto those persons who have complied with the conditions of the bonds they hold against the said Taliaferro for deeds to town lots which are described in this instrument as follows; Lots 5 & 7 in block 1; All of Block 2; All of Block 3; Lot 8 in block 4; lot 1,2,4,5,6,7,8, and in block 7; Lot 1 and 4 in block 9; All of block 10; Lot 3 and 4 in block 12; lot 3,4,5 and 10 in block 28. Then this obligation is to be forever void else to be remain in full force and effect.

Attest: N. Sirlott
Signed Isaac Underhill (Seal)."

It would seem that Isaac Underhill was obligated to honor all of the conditions that Jefferson Taliaferro had made regarding the previous sales of the town property or the deed to Isaac Underhill would be forever void.

It is also interesting to note that the patent to the above land was not issued until 12-10-1844, and that this patent was issued to the said Jefferson Taliaferro. This patent was certificate number 6112 and is recorded in the miscl. records, book 269, Peoria County, Ill.

It is not known if Jefferson Taliaferro ever had any claim against this property after the date of being sold to Underhill and this, the above circumstances, is only pointed out as a possible source of the stories regarding the "unclaimed land."

Mr. Underhill, after his purchase of the property at Rome, made the town a shipping point and the town enjoyed a prosperous life for several years. Over the years it has grown smaller and now only summer cottages remain along the river front.

In the "Peoria County History" p. 203, the following regarding Jefferson Taliaferro is found:

"Roll of Capt. Abner Lad's Co. of Mounted Ranging Volunteers, enrolled at Peoria, Ill. by virtue of an order from the Commander-in-chief of the Militia of the State of Ill. to Brig. Gen. Joseph Stillman, for service of the U.S. Mustered into service Jefferson Taliaferro (and others) on 4-23-1832, discharged 6-28-1832. He was listed as Private."

"The account of this shows that the mess (eating and living facilities) in which Jefferson Taliaferro was attached, lost its camp equipage, valued at $14.00; that Taliaferro's horse, worth $35.00 was killed in the service of the U.S."

In the "Governor's Correspondence; Military Affairs, 1834" the following is found: "Jefferson Taliaferro commissioned Quartermaster of the Peoria Battalion, Illinois Militia, to date from 7-10-1833."

In the Records of Commissioners Court of Peoria Co. there are numerous mentionings of Jefferson Taliaferro. These records show that he was called for duty on the jury several times; that elections were ordered to be held at his home in Rome; appointed a "Viewer" to lay out a road to run from Peoria, through Rome, to Galena, Illinois. Records covering the years 1832-35.

Nothing is known regarding Jefferson for the years 1836-44 and as he was not listed in the 1840 census of Peoria County it is possible that he had removed from the county.

James Andrew Taliaferro (7), son of Jefferson, told many times during his lifetime about the family while on the move from Illinois to Missouri, passing through Carthage, Ill, the day that Joseph and Hiram Smith (of Mormon Church fame) were killed by a mob, and that they had to remain there for several days waiting for the excitement to die down. This would set the date that the family removed from Ill. to Mo, or at least that the move was underway, on June 27, 1844, as that was the date of death of the Smith brothers.

Reference from "History of Gentry and Worth Co. Mo., 1882"

"Jefferson Taliaferro came from Illinois as early as 1845 and settled in Union Township. He left the County about the second year of the war (Civil) and went to Fremont County, Iowa."

This move to Fremont Co., Iowa was a move of only a few miles and it must have been to Hamburg, Iowa, as it was there that Mary Jane, the daughter of Jerrerson, married and some of the descendants still reside.

Jefferson Taliaferro was a large land owner in Worth & Gentry Co., Missouri, as we found listed at least twelve original land entries between the years of 1845-55, with each entrie being from 40 to 160 acres and most were for the last amount. When he first lettled in Mo. he lived in Gentry Co. but when Worth Co. was formed, his holdings were in that part.

Jefferson Taliaferro was in the Mexican War and certificate #84168, and supplied by the Office of the Adjutant General, of Mo., dated 4-25-1955, shows the following information:

"Jefferson Taliaferro, Mexican War, Enrolled 4-27-1847, Gentry Co. Mo., in 3rd Reg. Mo. Mounted Vol. 'Col. John Ralls) Capt. M. H. Simond's Co. H. and Capt. Benj. Salmon's Co H.Rank; Private, Age 43. Mustered into service 6-12-1847 at Independence Mo. Honorable discharge 10-19-1848, at Independence, Mo. Remarks: Muster Roll of 10-19-1848 "Elected from Private to 2nd Lieut. 9-21-1847, to take effect by order of Col. Ralls from the date of Lieut. Culp's resignation 12-10-1847. Received pay as Private to 2-29-1848."

While in the Mexican War Jefferson Taliaferro wrote a letter to his wife, Ruth, and a copy of the letter has been furnished by Herbert Warren Taliaferro (8), grandson of Jefferson. The letter follows:-

"Sanfurnando De Toas, New Mexico
January 26, 1848

Dear Wife and Children,

I take this opportunity to infrom you all that I am well at present and hope that these few lines find you all enjoying the same blessing. We are yet at Taos. How long we will stay here I can't tell. There is notning of importance here to write. Three men in Capt. Broaks (or Boaks) Company has been taken up for robbing the Church here and two of them has been found guilty and received 25 lashes and the other one has his trial today. The health of the troops is very good at this time. I have not received no letter from you but the few lines that you put in William Rogers letter. Dear Wife I want you to do the best you can I will be at home as soon as possible. I think it is best to keep both your claims it is very likely that when I come home that I will stay there. I want you to obey your mother children in all things. I have but little to write. I want you to write as often as you can direct your letters to Capt. Salmon's Company Santa Fe New Mexico. No more at present, but remain yours.

Signed--Jefferson Taliaferro."

The above letter, written by Jefferson Taliaferro, to his wife Ruth, was sent to Ft. Leavenworth, Missouri by Army carrier and there mailed to her, at Dansville, Gentry, Mo.

In the "History of Worth and Gentry Co. Mo." p. 586, the following is found regarding the early schools and the Taliaferro family.

"The first school in the township (Union) was taught by a Mrs. McClain, daughter of Jefferson Taliaferro. The school was located in the timber of the West Fork, and was kept about 1850. Among the pupils attending this school were W. H. Hagans, James F. Hagans, Sarah M. Hagans, William Stephens, Francis Taliaferro, Warren Taliaferro, and Miss Taliaferro."

The identy of Mrs. McClain has not been identified, but it was believed that she was Jefferson's daughter, Sarah (who we think married a William Crane, (see other reference) or his dau. William (or Willie). Neither can Francis Taliaferro be identified. The Warren Taliaferro, and most likely the Miss Taliaferro were children of Jefferson Taliaferro.

Issue of:

Jefferson Taliaferro (6) and his 2nd wife, Nancy McClelland.

4. James Andrew Taliaferro (7) b 12-12-1832 at Peoria, Illinois. Died 8-26-1931 at Jacksonville, Texas.
(See details of this line, after child No. 5.)

5. William (or Willie) (7), a daughter. Nothing known.

---

4. James Andrew Taliaferro (7) (above) died at the age of 99 years, 8 months, and 14 days, at Jacksonville, Cherokee Co. Texas. He was in the Confederate States Army and the following is shown in the records: Certified copy of his Civil War record, Certificate #83621, from the Adj. Gen. State of Mo. "Enlisted 12-21-1861 in Co. C, 1st Mo. Vol. Cavalry, at Springfield, Mo., by Capt. Enyart. Age: 28 yrs. at time of enlistment. Rank: 1st Lieut. Nativity; Worth Co. Mo. Served in Mo. State Guard as Capt. Was in the battles of Blue Mills, Lexington, Sugar Creek, Bentonville, Elk Horn Ark, where he was wounded. Left in the hands of the enemy."

His record, as supplied by the War Dept., Adj. Gen. Office, Washington D.C., show the following:
"The records show that James Taliaferro, name not found as James A. Taliaferro, 1st Lieut. of C. G. Gates Reg., Mo. Cav. which subsequently became Co. G. 1st Reg. Mo. Cavalry, Confederate States Army, entered the service 12-21-1861 at Springfield, age 29, occupation merchant and residence Fair View, Worth Co. Mo. Also served in Mo. State Guard as Capt; 4 mo, 20 days. In battles of Blue Mills, Lexington, Sugar Creek, Bentonville, Elkhorn, in which battle he was wounded in the left thigh, bone broken, and left in hands of the enemy,"

The records of the Comptroller of Public Accounts, State of Texas, Austin, Texas show the following:

"James A. Taliaferro, deceased, Confederate Pensioner, file No. 36851, Kaufman Co. Texas. James A. Taliaferro, shown also as James, filed application for Confederate Pension in the State of Texas on 7-31-1920 at which time he gave his age as 88 years old. He stated that he was born in Pora (Peoria) County, Ill., but that h had resided in Texas since 1864. He stated that he served until March 1862 when he was wounded. His application was approved and he drew a pension until his death in Aug. 1931."

The battle of Elkhorn lasted several days and was fought around and about Elkhorn Tavern (trading post, general store, or hotel). The tavern was being used by the Conf. Army as a hospital. It was to this Elkhorn that James Andrew Taliaferro was carried when he was wounded. His injury was such that the Confederate Doctors were preparing to remove his leg when the Union Army captured the Tavern. It was very fortunate for James Andrew (as later proved) that the Union Army took the Tavern as they did not remove his leg and in time he recovered, although he walked with a limp the remainder of his life.

James Andrew and his brother, Warren Taliaferro, were together up to the time that James Andrew was injured, at which time Warren went on to take part in several more battles. James Andrew never did return to duty.

The "History of Worth Co. Mo, 1882)," page 566, erroneously makes the following remarks:

"James Taliaferro was a pioneer merchant of Smithton, where he remained untill the late war, when he joined the Confederate Army. He finally died after the close of the war, from the effects of the loss of one of his legs."

Just how this error of his death could have been reported, later to be recorded in history, is not known. It is possible that this error was due to the combination of several things; the preparations to remove his leg; left in the hands of the enemy; the fact that he was not heard from; and he never returned to his home in Missouri.

It was while James Andrew Taliaferro was recovering from his leg wound that he met Miss Amanda Jane Beckworth (d. of Hansel and Amanda (Carter) Beckworth. Amanda Jane Beckworth was born 2-10-1844, at or near Atlanta, Georgia. She died at Jacksonville, Texas 10-30-1931 at the age of 87 years 8 mo. and 20 days. They were married about 9-3-1863 at Pine Bluff Ark. Shortly after they removed to Henderson, Rusk Co. Texas. At the time they settled at Henderson, Texas there was already an Addison Taliaferro and family living there. Addison was a very distant relative as he was descendant of Col. Chas. Taliaferro & wife Isabell (McCullough) Taliaferro.

James Andrew Taliaferro & wife Amanda Jane Beckworth were the parents of 6 daughters, & seven sons: Willie C., Alice McClelland, Nannie Izora, Jefferson Lee, Chas Beckworth, Benj. Ruddle, Elenor James Caywood, Wylie Carter, Ann Hazzeltine, Annie & Albert Sidney, Dennis Hansel (8). Details follow.

HAM FAMILY
William Charleston Hamm, father of Lou Edna (Ham) Taliaferro.

William Charleston Hamm, b 12-25-1844 in Georgia. d. 3-26-1928 at Haslet, Tarrant Co. Texas. Not much is know of his ancestry, except that he had a twin brother named Ira Ham. It is believed that the parents died very young. The Civil War record on file at the office of State Comptroller, Pension Sec. Austin, Texas reveals the following information:

"William C. Ham, Private in Co. D. Wells Reg. of Tex. Cav., Confederate State army. After serving about one and one half years he was discharged in June 1865 near Hemstead, Texas."

While a resident of Martin Co. Texas he applied for Confederate Pension on 1-2-1917. In this application he stated he was 72 years old and that he was born in the State of Georgia, but that he had lived in Texas for 40 years. His pension was granted and he drew the pension until his death on 3-26-1928.

William Charleston Ham m. three times. First to a Miss Moore. who died shortly after the birth of their only child. After the death of his wife the infant was taken to the State of Florida, by Mrs. Moore, the childs grandmother. Some months later the father had a letter from Mrs. Moore saying the child had died. No proof of this death was ever furnished and it is believed that the "death" was only an excuse to keep the child. The exact name of this child is not known, but the father always referred to him as "Florida".

The second marriage was to Lissie Starks (sister of his third wife) and they had one child, but name and sex not known.

COLONIAL CAROLINE------A HISTORY OF CAROLINE CO. VA.
by
T. E. Campbell
The Dietz Press, Inc. Richmond, Va.

Caroline was the third most populous and affluent county in Virginia during the Revolution.

This history was based on the Order Books of the Caroline Court, the only complete records of the county in existence. They begin with 1732 and form an unbroken log of what happened.

p. 15. First settlement along the Rappahannock. In 1666 and this was for speculation rather than settlement. Robert Taliaferro (1) and Lawrence Smith took out 6,300 acres "in ye freshes and on the south side of the river, lying on the east side of a creek called Snow Creek."-----

Robert Taliaferro at a latter date established commercial enterprises on land he patented down stream at the mouth of Peumandsend (Mill Creek). The first mass scale settlement of Caroline's Rappahannock took place in the area in which Taliaferro in time built his commercial establishments.

P. 17 Early Patents. 3-17-1673, to Robert Taliaferro, the son of Robert Taliaferro (1), for 739 acres on the south side of the Rappahannock on both sides of the mouth of a creek known as Peumansend.------

A plot of the Taliaferro tract is still in existence. It shows warehouses and wharf located on the south bank of the Rappahannock, at the mouth of the Peumansend (Mill Creek.)

Robert Taliaferro braved shakey title and pillaging pirates to build his establishments on open water naviable for ocean going vessels and took advantage of the opportunity for lucrative trade, which the rapidly growing section offered.

P. 22 Robert Taliaferro patented with John Buckner, 716 acres further down the Rappahannock, in the vicinity of Port Royal, and in 1673 he took out 4,600 acres of Reedy Creek, which, when Bacon rebelled, he was trying desperately to hold without going there to live.

P. 62. John Taliaferro had the distinction of being the scion of the first family to reach the soil that is Caroline and produce a founding father. His first Caroline Taliaferro ancestor patented 6,300 acres----and seven years later, Robert (2) the son of Robert (1), took up 739 acres---and set up a portion of this property the region to be Caroline's first chartered tobacco warehouse. This enterprise flourished and the children of Robert, multiplied until in a short time his heirs were among the most numerous and prosperous families in the region. At one session of the court a few years after Caroline became a county, three of the five sitting magistrates were Taliaferros.

P. 115 Richard Taliaferro--listed as one of the trustees of the land at Port Royal when it was laid out Sept. 1744.

P. 299 Land Grants listed to:
Francis Taliaferro, in 1694, of 800 acres, at mouth of Peumandsend.
John Taliaferro---200 acres at upper end of Peumandsend, 1705.
Charles Taliaferro--966 acres between Ware and Mount Creeks on a pate called Solomon's Garden.--1705.
Lawrence Taliaferro ---220 acres--upper valley of Peumandsend.

Headrights purchased in 1742 by Richard Taliaferro: John Jones (taylor who became a bankrupt), John Miller (1742--trader impoverished by the French and Indian War), Robert Gilchrist (1739--merchant), James Donald, John and William Gray (merchants), Robert Scott.

The patentees of crown grants in excess of 1,000 acres and their descendants controlled the Caroline Court through the colonial period. In time three families dominated the Caroline Court. They were the Taylors, Taliaferros and Buckners. who furnished 8,7,& 6 magistrates or over 20% of the total membership---There were unpleasantries among the ruling families. The Taliaferros were particularly quarrelsom. In 1740's they engaged in a family spat that rocked the county. John Taliaferro (2) and John Taliaferro (3) and William Taliaferro (3) sued Richard Taliaferro (2). They were all magistrates and their disputes became so unpleasant that other magistrates stayed away from the court. At last the suit was decided by a minimum quorum of five. John, John Jr. and William voted together and won the case.

BOOK IX

THE TOLIVER FAMILIES

One of the large land grants given to Richard Taliaferro (1), the emigrant, of 6,500 acres was located on the Rappahannock river, in Gloucester County. His name was spelled both Taliaferro and Toliver in the same document. So by a study of the land grants, wills etc. we know that his descendants who pressed further west to settle the claims, all belong to the same family.

The sons of Francis 2 and John 2 (sons of Robert 1) helped to establish many of the early forts, down the Ohio river, up the Illinois river and along the great lakes.

In 1790 Federal Census, Morgan District, Wilkes County, North Carolina, five families spelling their names Toliver (for this record, but Taliaferro in other official records) received the first land grants making this their future home. The first settlers arrived from 1737-1740, and must have included these Toliver families. By 1749 only 300 taxable men lived west of the Haw River. Th pioneers came into this mountainous and hilly country by way of the Yadkin river, which flows between the two mountain ranges.

It is interesting to note that before the Revolution, the Church of England was in power in North Carolina as in Virginia. Their ordained ministers were the only ones permitted to perform marriage ceremonies. The "Banns were published or announced from the pulpit." The other way was to buy a license, which cost fifty pounds. Many of these old marriage bonds have been found in the records of early court houses and are full of genealogical information. Others have been turned over to State Historical Commission. The National Archives in Washington, D.C. have the Census schedules.

Because of unsafe places to house public records and the many Indian outbreaks, a great many very valuable records were lost. Also, when the struggle for existance was so great not much attention to the keeping of records was being thought of.

As more people came into the territory the county was cut into other counties. Wilkes County was formed from Burke and Surry County in 1777. Surry from Rowan between 1780-90. Burke was formed in 1777 from Rowan. Ashe County was cut from Wilkes in 1799. Alleghany, originally part of the territory was formed in 1859 from Ashe.

The original Toliver settlements were in Wilkes County but after the division of counties they were in different counties. Wilkes County was named for John Wilkes, who died in 1797. Col. Byrd of Virginia is said to have been the first white person in Surry County in 1728.

The early land grants described their property as being on "Dog Creek" located in Ashe County, "Peach Bottom Mountain" now in Alleghany County now, but then part of Ashe County. "Little River" and "Glade Creek" were in Alleghany County.

The stories of the battle of Guilford Court House, in Greensboro, North Carolina, are very fascinating for this family, for the Taliaferro and Tolivers and Franklin families were amoung the men of Surry County who defended this country so well, at this the last battle of the Revolution.

Because of a lack of education, phonetic spelling followed. Often to avoid confusion brothers changed the spelling of their names. The families were large and the repetition of the names make it difficult to place them properlly.

CENSUS of 1790

Morgan District, Wilkes County, North Carolina

Lists as heads of families:

1.	Jesse Toliver	with wife and		three daughters
2.	Moses Toliver	" " "	four boys &	two daughters.
3.	John Toliver	" " "		two daughters
4.	Charles Toliver	" " "	two boys &	one daughter.
5.	William Toliver	" " "	four boys &	1 daughter.

SURRY COUNTY NORTH CAROLINA Salisbury District

1.	John Taliaferro	with wife and	5 daughters.
2.	Charles Taliaferro	Living alone.

Some of these men, or their descendants, are known to have found their way into Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and later into Ill. The families of Hall, Edwards, Maxwell, Davis, Isom, Lindsey, Franklin, Moxley and others were their neighbors. There are many intermarriages between the families.

In the History of Lawrence, Orange, and Washington Counties of Indiana, published in 1884, page 37: "In the early autumn of 1815 Lewis Phillips built a cabin at John Toliver's upper spring, near the meridian line, on the southwest quarter of the northwest quarter of Section 31, Township 4, north, Range 1 east.

Page 38:...The opening of spring, 1816, found many new-comers from North and South Carolina---In the year 1817 Robert Hall ventured away from the streams and built a good log-house on what is now the George Field's place. His sons, Isom and Robert, still reside in the neighborhood.

In referring to Charles Toliver, the Maxwell History says that he had four brothers and two sisters: William, John, Moses, Jesse, Lucy who married William Maxwell, and Sara Toliver who remained in North Carolina.

The best authorities agree that the five Toliver families who settled in Wilkes County, North Carolina were brothers, and sons of Charles Toliver who was the son of John (2) and Sara Smith Toliver, the son of Robert Taliaferro and Sara Grymes. The Chas. Toliver line was not given in the Ivey Manuscript. See page 39 of text of this book.

Not a great deal of information is available concerning all of the five brothers who settled in North Carolina, but by listing what has been found to date, after about thirty years of research, perhaps much more data may be added later. To conform with the number of the generations, the line is:

Note: The Maxwell History and Genealogy states that Moses Toliver (4) died on his way to Indiana, from Wilkes Co. N.C. No mention is made of whether his family were with him, but by finding Moses Toliver (5) living in Orange Co. Indiana, it is persumed that he was one of his sons who did come with him. There may have been others.

Charles Toliver (4) was a Revolutionary Soldier, who came with his sons to Indiana. The older members of his family say he was buried in the Freedom Cemetery in Lawrence County, Indiana.

NOTE

In this Toliver section of the Taliaferro History many of the families spell the name with two "l's" and some with one "l" and some of them who were the pioneers into North Carolina retained the old spelling of Taliaferro. Therefore, please look for all spellings in tracing your particular line.

(2) John Toliver (5) (Chas.4, Chas.3, John 2, Robert 1) (Sometimes spelled Tolliver) Born 4-20-1780 in Ashe County, N. C. Died 4-4-1863. Buried at the Toliver Cemetery, near Louisville, Illinois, in Clay County, Ill. He was married on the waters of Little River, Ashe Co. N.C. 11-1-1801. He settled in Clay County, Illinois about 1828-9. W. Soloma Miller

Born in 1782 in N.C. and d. 8-1-1858 at Louisville, Clay County, Illinois. Buried with her husband.

The old Bible records of this family are in the possession of Walter Toliver, Las Animos, Colo. a great grandson. The records were written by John Toliver and states:

"John Toliver and Salome Miller were married in the month of Nov. 1801 in N.C. Ashe Co. N.C. on the waters of Little River. Two children were born there. Then moved from there to Kentucky, from there to Indiana, and from there to Tennesse, from there to Alabama and from there to Indiana and from there to Illinois and remained there at this time, Sept. 1852."

The following page of the Bible listed the records of the children. Also, a statement: "My father died 4-20-1821 (not naming him) and my mother died 8-28-1827 (not naming her.)

We know from many of the descendants of this family that John Toliver (5) was a brother to Chas.(5), so from this we know the dates of the death of Chas. (4) and his wife, but not the names of the mother.

Children of John & Soloma (Miller) Toliver (5)

(A) Christena Toliver(6) b 11-2-1802 in N.C. Died 2-27-1870. Buried at Freedom Cemetery, near Mitchell, Ind. This land for the cemetery was donated by her father, from part of his property. She married twice. First to Bluford Gatliff Davis b 1797 in Ky. (1860 Coles Co. Ill. census record). Died 3-11-1870 and buried at the Whetstone cemetery, six miles south of Charleston, Ill. in Coles County. He came from Kentucky in 1816 to Lawrence County, Indiana before coming to Coles County, Illinois about 1848.

It was my privilege to visit at the home of his great grandaughter, Mrs. Ella (Ostrander) Lindsey, in 1944 who lived at Mitchell, Indiana. She took us to the Spring Mill State Park, south of Mitchell, where the State of Indiana has restored the pioneer village. The old log house, now used by the Tavern, was once owned by Bluford Davis, and she could remember when they moved it to its present location, not far away.

We saw the old stone grist and saw mill, operated by water power, where the pioneers came to grind their grain. The park contains 1294 acres of land with virgin timber and several caves.

Bluford Gatliff Davis was a half brother to John Calvin Davis. They had the same father, who was a Seminole Indian. Their wives were cousins. Eliz.Toliver, wife of John Calvin Davis, was the daughter of William Toliver (5). For further information refer to: History and genealogy of John Calvin Davis, published in 1944 by Mrs. Frank J. Sherman, 518 Hamilton, Apt. B-2 Peoria, Illinois. ($6.00 per copy.)

The case was in the Orange Co Court of Indiana about 18 years before it was finally disposed of. (3) WILLIAM TOLIVER (5) (Chas.4, Chas.3, John 2, Robt. 1)

Not a great deal is known about William Toliver, except that he came to Lawrence County, Indiana as one of the pioneer settlers.

In the Probate Order Book, from Sept. 1818 to May 1835 of Lawrence County, under date of February 25, 1822, on page 11, the following record is found.

"Charles Toliver, William Baldwin were appointed administrators of the estate of William Toliver."

On page 37 of the same record, a widow of William Toliver was mentioned, as still living.

On page 45, William Toliver owned the E½-NE¼-Sec. 2 Twp.,3N-Range 1W. The land was to be sold because personal estate was not sufficient to settle debts.

As some of the children of William Toliver were born in Alabama it is believed that he followed the same route in coming to Indiana as did his brother John. This shows that they left North Carolina about 1805, into Kentucky, then Tenn. then Indiana before coming to Indianaabout 1815-20. Wife:

Con't.

Elizabeth Toliver (6) married 12-18-1828 in Lawrence County, Indiana. They remained in Law. Co. until after the birth of her first son, Commodore Perry Davis, then moved to Hutton Twp. in Coles County, Illinois, stopping for a short time in Clark County, Ill. Here she remained her entire lifetime, raising a family of 14 children.

Husband

John Calvin Davis Born 4-28-1809 in Ky. D. 11-30-1871 in Coles County, Ill. Hutton Twp.

The U.S. Department of Interior, general land office of Washington says; "An examination of the tract book reveals that on 9-11-1834, John C. Davis made cash entry No. 4413, for NW¼-NE¼-Sec."T11 N 11 N. R.10 E, in Ill. containing 35.53 acres, which was patented to him on 3-18-1837."--further-- that on 12-27-1836, he made another cash entry No. 7523 for the SW¼ Sec.1, T11N, R.10E, in Illinois, containing 38.05 acres, and N½-NE¼ Sec.31, Twp. 12 R.10 E. In 1850, on Feb. 20th, he bought from Nathaniel Lee and wife Catherine, NE¼-NE½, Sec. 34, R 10E., 40 acres. This may habe been in Clark Co. Illinois at that time, but is now in Coles County. It was here that most of the children were raised, and was known as the Old Davis homestead. After his death his eldest daughter Lucinda Conley and her husband lived there, for their entire life time, and then the land passed to their son Joel Conley.

The trip from Indiana to Illinois was in an old covered wagon. They had a cow, an extra lead team of horses, and about $5.00 in cash. One of the grandsons, John Davis, son of Riley Davis, remembers hearing his father tell how when his parents arrived in Illinois, and before they could get their first log cabin built, they moved into an old cabin, left by some hunters, but never knew to whom it belonged. It was located close to the Liberty Church, in Hutton Twp. Coles Co. Ill.

Other information given in the letter:

The Kentucky Tolliver's all of who first settled in or around Elliott County, Ky. are commonly thought of as the same family, but, in reality they were two seperate branches of the same family. John Tolliver came to Kentucky after a split with his brother over their father's estate. The brother bought John's share and retained the estate. Because of ill feelings there was no contact between the two after that.

The other Tolliver who came to Kentucky was a distant cousin, who settled in Elliott County, because he had heard John was there. He was run out of Virginia because he married a girl considered as "low Irish." This union produced the wilder, more notorious Tollivers--the ones who are known as "Those Kentucky Tollivers" -- His grandsons, Marion, Floyd, and Craig Tolliver especially. The boys father was murdered in bed, as he was sleeping, with his wife and children standing helplessly watching; so with bad blood and this memory it is no wonder they turned out the way they did.

Craig Tolliver fired the first shot which resulted in the Tolliver War, historically called the Morehead War. Floyd Tolliver was mistakenly killed by a man named Taylor, after a bar room brawl. Craig Tolliver was then an officer of the law, and with his friend, Burdon, caught Taylor and murdered him on the C & O. train, in the smoking room. He was bringing him back to Morehead to stand trial, but iw was generally known, and the family knew, that Craig was going to avenge Floyd's death. Law or no law! This incident set off the war. The situation got so bad that the State Militia was called out. This happened about 1885-86. The publication of John Fox Jr's book, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" as this time caused in the incident to gain notierity.

The John Tolliver side of the family had tried to stop the war and also tried to sue John Fox Jr., but it turned out that there really was a June Tolliver (heroine of the book), had given Fox written permission to use her name. June Tolliver had been left an orphan when a baby and been adopted by a family by the name of Rice. Apparently there was an actress in N.Y. by that name. She was looked down upon by the Tolliver family because of this.

Finley Tolliver was a farmer, ran a legitimate still, mail carrier, and a veteran of war of 1812. Lenore Wyatt ran the first post office in Elliott County.

Tug Howard ambushed and murdered Leander Tolliver and his dog, around 1900, during the winter. About 35 years later Tug Howard and a friend were driving along when Howard suddenly turned ghostly white and started shouting that Leander's dog was on his running board. Trying to drive and beat the dog off, he lost control and ran the car off the road. The crash killed him but the friend escaped without a scratch. Howard was thought to have been hired to murder Leander. The whole family (Howard) left the mountains and moved to Ohio after the murder. A few of the descendents still live around Morehead.

SHILOW SCHOOL REUNION

SHILOH SCHOOL REUNION

First director is among thos at Swope Park. Park patrolman finds he is with classmates, who remember accident which cost him his leg.

The children who used to go to the old Shiloh School, at 71st and Cleveland Ave. ate fried chicken and watermelon together yesterday in shelterhouse No. 7 at Swope Park (Kansas City)

They were not children anymore. They were frosty at the temples, some of them, and they complained of the rain, which always gave them rheumatism. But they still were children to the elders who went to Shiloh School back in 1869, the year the park opened. Most of those early-day pupils had been dead for many a year, just as their first teacher had--old Mart White.

"But I remember them all," said G. M. Tolliver, 9137 Holmes Street---I remember the first pupil, the first teacher and all. I was the first director at old Shiloh, long, long ago. --it was a good school, too, even if I was director."

There were three important persons at the old Shiloh school picnic yesterday at Swope Park, on the verge of eating fried chicken: G. M. Tolliver, 9137 Holmes St., his dau. Mrs. Lee Sechrest, 79th St. and Blue Ridge Blvd. and his son, J.W. Tolliver, both of whom went to the school about 30 years ago. The school was built in 1869 and stood at 71st and Cleveland Ave.

JAMES R. TALIAFERRO

James R. Taliaferro, son of Richard and Rebecca (Riddle) Taliaferro. Born in Cleremont Co. Ohio. in 1810 (1850Census Record). Died in Nebraska. The place is unknown, but the name of the cemetery was thought to be Blue Ridge.

When he was eighteen years old he worked his way on a keel boat, from his home on the Ohio river, to New Orleans. He lived there three years, then decided to visit his older brother, Jefferson Taliaferro, who had settled at the little river town (Rome) on the Illinois river, in Peoria County, Ill. While living here he meet and married his wife, Charlotte Cleveland, on March 21, 1833. This was the same day that a land grant was issued to him in Putnam County, Illinois, in the next county north of Peoria Co.

Shortly afterwards he loaded the logs for a new cabin on his wagon and drove to his new home in Putnam Co. He first settled on the Perkins farm, but within a short time, he took the cabin down and rebuilt it about two miles east of the first one. This was his home for 55 years. It is now known as the Geo. Wheeler farm.
From the book, "Records of the Olden Time" by Ellsworth, on Putnam Co. Ill. there is a very interesting article on the Mound Builders, from which I quote: (P.49) "Numerous remains of this exiled race of Indians is found in the counties of Marshall and Putnam.----Beneath the mounds are usually found one or more skeletons with ashes, coals, and other evidence going to show the bodies were first burned. Prof. Gifford, who has given the subject careful study, finds upon microscopial examination, blood crystals mixed in large quantities with the earth, and cites it as proff the mounds were for sacrifice as well as sepulture. The skulls found show low and receding foreheads, long from front to back, narrow at the top and wide toward the base, indicating a patient people, with some intelligence, but wholly different from the crania of modern Indians.

These remains indicate that this whole country was once populated with a race as old as those who built the pyramids of Egypt. While in some places a single mound is observable, in others they are in groups and series, in which some trace a resemblance to serpents, animals, et., and term them mounds of worship; but such conclusions are at best fanciful and rest solely as a basis of conjecture.

Some of these structures are of considerable extent, as witness the large mound north of Chillicothe, and the long line which crown the Bluffs in the rear of Squire Taliaferro's in Senachawine Township, in one of which the old chief of that name was buried."

Page 56. "After Tonti's garrison was dispersed, about 1718 the Pottawatomies and a few remnants of other tribes continued to inhabit and the region of country between Peoria and Ottawa. They dwelt mainly at the places named, while Indian Town, now Tiskilwa, was always a favorite resort. Hennepin, Lacon, Sparland, Senachwine and other localities along the river were the homes of certain members of the clan.---The Indians living here were Pottawatomies, with a mixture of Winnebagoes, Kickapoos, Sacs and Foxes. The leading chiefs were Senachwine, whose principal village was on the creek that commemorated his name, one mile north of Chillicothe; and Shubena, whose village was above Ottawa, on the Illinois River. Senachwine was a fine looking Indian, and education would have made him a leader in any comunity. In early life he joined the British and was with Tecumseh when the latter lost his life. When peace was declared he returned to his people and was always after the fast friend of the white man."

James R. Taliaferro and his wife lived on this farm, in Putnam Co for several years, with the Indians. There was said to be 800 wigwams in the valley infront of his home. He was a friend to the Indians and they lived in peace with each other until the Government moved them across the Mississippi River, into Kansas, in the city of Mayette.

The grave of Chief Senachwine was on the hill back of the Taliaferro cabin. It was marked with two poles, one at the head and one at the foot. One of them had 87 knotches carved on it, to indicate the age of the old chief. When the Indians left Illinois they took the knotched pole with them.

Verlinda Wheeler, father of the present owner, Mr. Geo. Wheeler, (now 84 years of age in 1955) bought the James R. Taliaferro farm about the year 1876-77. It was my priviledge to hear Mr. George Wheeler tell about this transaction, and how James R. Taliaferro took hold of his hand and lead him to the brow of the hill, to show him the old Indians grave. He was only a lad of six o or seven, but this made a great impression upon him. The grave is now marked by a huge boulder, put there by interested citizens, who wished to honor one of the ladt Indian chiefs in Illinois.

Finally the first little cabin was town down by the Wheeler family, and a new home built on the same location. Many interesting articles have been saved by the Wheeler family which belonged to the James R. Taliaferro family, as well as Indian relics that have been picked up from the land. Mr. Wheeler has opened a small museum, at the farm, which houses a very fine collection. He has the old shot-gun that belonged to Mr. Taliaferro, and Mrs. Taliaferro's spinning whell, besides many Indian relics. An old letter was also found that James R. Taliaferro had written to Kansas, to see if he could find out about the pole with the 87 knotches on it that the Indians took with them when they left.Mr. Wheeler was given a Merit Award certificate for showing his exhibit at the World's Fair in Chicago.
